Oil used: 347 gallons. (Official).

Mileage: 37,500 (Estimated).

Chicago, July 2—(AP)—John and Kenneth Hunter in the monoplane "City of Chicago" flew through their 503rd continuous hour over Sky Harbor today at 2:40 P. M. Central Standard time. They were 83 hours ahead of the previous world's record for endurance.

As the pilots roared through their 500th hour aloft, an army plane soared overhead endeavoring to drop a radio contact to the endurance plane for a noon broadcast of the flight by the record-holding pilots. Five attempts were made by the radio men aboard the Army plane, but the air currents seemed choppy and the fliers aboard the endurance plane declined to risk reaching for the radio hook-up. It was the first time an attempt to make contact with the "City of Chicago" was not completed.

The motor in the "City of Chicago" apparently was functioning smoothly and except that Kenneth is tired of the three weeks of monotonous flying there was every indication the flight would continue through the week.

Reaping Profit.

At the 500th hour the pilots had reaped a profit of $9,099 from their venture. At 10:40 A. M., C. S. T., the fliers had been in the air 499 hours.

No estimate has been made of the commission they will receive from the airport over which the brothers are flying.

Of the nearly $10,000 earned, $7,900 is from the Deep Rock Oil Co., which is donating the fuel for the flight. This company is giving the fliers $100 an hour for every hour over the previous world's record. The offer runs out on the 520th hour.

The Columbia Broadcasting System at 5 o'clock last night began paying the fliers $1 a minute, and that at 12:40 o'clock amount to $1,240. The remainder of the sum of $9,099 comes from a western individual who is giving $1 an hour for every hour over the record.

Daily Broadcasts.

The radio contract calls for two broadcasts daily at 11 A. M., C. S. T., and 5 P. M., so long as the "City of Chicago" remains in the air.

The broadcasts are made from an Army Plane, which contacts with the endurance plane and drops a microphone into the cabin. Today for the first time there was two-day conversation between the flying Hunters and the ground hunters, to which the world listened.

John and Kenneth have accomplished everything but sking in their plane. Yesterday they were sent a batch of legal papers, which they filled out and dropped to the ground. The papers gave Walter Hunter special power of attorney to sign all contracts while they are in the air.

Get Many Offers.

Offers by wire and mail continued to flood the flight secretary today. In excess of $30,000 for a picture. They have many theater offers and almost every town and hamlet within a 500-mile radius of Chicago wants the fliers to direct their plane over them during the flight.

All the latter offers have been refused because of the danger of a forced landing away from Sky Harbor, which would mean loss of the official record.

Flight Threatened.

Motor trouble of their supply ship threatened for a moment to end the flight today.

The "Big Ben" warming up for the first morning contact with the "City of Chicago," sputtered and died but a few minutes' frantic work by the ground crew put the engine in tune and Walter and Albert Hunter went

"Missing Heir"
To Small Estate
Turned Up Tuesday

Shelbyville, Ill., July 2—(UP)—A "missing heir," in the person of Joseph R. Stuart, 50, St. Louis, Mo., who was legally declared dead four years ago, only to turn up yesterday, confronted Shelby county officials today with an embarrassing problem as to how he was to receive his share in the $48,000 estate of his aunt, the late Mrs. Julia Freidley.

Mrs. Freidley died fourteen years ago and her will provided that Stuart should receive one eighteenth of her property, consisting mostly of land holdings near Moweaqua, not far from there and in Shelby county. Efforts to locate Stuart in Tennessee, Seattle, Wash., and other points failed and a suit was successfully instituted to have him declared dead. A brother and a sister received his share of the estate.

Yesterday authorities were amazed when Stuart walked in on them to claim his share of the estate. When told that he had been declared dead and has share turned over to his brother and sister, he was quoted as intimating that he would bring suit against the county Public Administrator and Treasurer who were in office at the time he was declared dead.

Stuart said he was unaware during his years of absence from his relatives that he had been left a share in his aunt's estate. His share would have amounted to $2,500.

A petition bearing the signature of 60 citizens and property owners protesting against the dust nuisance from the Medusa Cement Company's plant east of the city, was presented to the city council at the regular weekly session last evening. The petition was as follows:

"We, the undersigned, being property owners and residents of the City of Dixon, Ill., do hereby petition the City Council of the City of Dixon, Ill., to cause to be discontinued the nuisance of cement dust that comes from the plant of the Medusa Portland Cement Company, located on the south bank of Rock river."

The petition was read to the council and discussed briefly then placed on file, the members of the commission being unable to take action as a body at last evening's meeting.

The regular monthly bills against the city amounting to $11,091.26 were read and ordered paid.

The application of James Cleidon for a soft drink license at 104 First street was granted by the council.

Three vouchers in payment to contractors for work done on local improvements were issued as follows by the board of local improvements:

Tomorrow Morn

Cleveland, O., July 2—(AP)—The Southern Cross on its way from New York to Chicago passed over the Cleveland airport at 12:22 Eastern Standard Time today flying about 500 feet high, airport officials announced.

BULLETIN
Canberra, Australia, July 2—(AP)—Announcement was made in the House of Representatives today that Squadron Leader Kingsford-Smith had been promoted to the rank of Wing Commander in recognition of his westward trans-Atlantic flight. Premier Scullin said that the government was anxious to give him some greater honor to mark his achievement, but that the granting of titles clashed with the policy of the Labor party.PLAN CHICAGO WELCOME
Chicago, July 2—(AP)—Welcome winds breezed over the Windy City today for Major Charles Kingsford-Smith and his trans-Atlantic crew of the Southern Cross, California-bound.

The tri-motored Fokker was scheduled to land at the Curtiss-Wright Glenview airport at 3 P. M. (CST) after a non-stop flight from New York. The take off for San Francisco was planned for early tomorrow morning.

Complying with the wishes of those who flew the North Atlantic, the welcome program was a "simple affair." A welcoming committee of notables, a motor jaunt down Michigan Avenue and an informal reception was Chicago's honor.

After circling the loop upon their arrival, Major Kingsford-Smith planned to skirt the Lake Michigan shoreline to Sky Harbor airport and dip in salute to the flying Hunter brothers and their endurance plane "City of Chicago."

Kingsford-Smith and his crew will remain here overnight, departing at dawn tomorrow for Salt Lake City over the northern air route. Friday they will attempt to reach Oakland, Calif., without a stop.

In a radio program at 6:30 P. M. (CST) tonight in a National Broadcasting Company hookup, Maj. Kingsford-Smith will tell about his flight across the Atlantic and will present his companions in that flight. Everet Van Dyk, co-pilot; Capt. J. Patrick Saul, navigator, and J. W. Stannage, radio operator.

TO SELL PLANE
New York, July 2—(AP)—Roaring away into the murky morning, the Southern Cross headed westward from Roosevelt Field at a few minutes after 7 o'clock (EST) today on the first jump of a trans-continental flight to Oakland, Calif., which will end its journey around the world. It's crew expects to reach Chicago this evening.

An hour after the takeoff it had not been reported, although it planned to fly low. The overhanging mist kept visibility low and even at 2000 feet the plane apparently had not been distinguished as it soared over New York and Newark, N. J., and headed into the Alleghenies following the air mail route.

Charles E. Kingsford-Smith said he would follow the mail route.

In addition to the crew of three who flew with Kingsford-Smith from Ireland to New York with a stop for fuel at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, the Southern Cross carried Laurence D. Lyman of the New York Times as a passenger.

After an overnight stop in Chicago, the fliers will take off for Salt Lake City, flying over Iowa City, Des Moines, Omaha and Cheyenne. A second over night stop will be made at Salt Lake City and Friday they will continue to Oakland, Calif., from where Kingsford-Smith took off two years ago on his flight to Australia by way of Hawaii. When he arrives at Oakland, Kingsford-Smith will have flown the Southern Cross around the world, across the oceans traveling from east to west.

Before starting on the trans-continental flight, Kingsford-Smith said he planned to sell the Southern Cross in California.

He said he planned to return east in about two weeks and sail for England and thence for his home in Australia where he is engaged to marry Miss Mary Powell in September.

FATE OF MOONEY, BILLINGS
MAY BE DETERMINED TODAY
BY CALIFORNIA JUSTICESSupreme Court Expected
To Report Findings To Gov.

San Francisco, July 2—(UP)—The fate of Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, serving life sentences for conviction in the internationally famous Preparedness Day bombing of 1916, rested today in the hands of seven judges of the California Supreme Court.

As the judges neared the end of their deliberations in the case, letters and wires, some pleading for and others denouncing proposed pardons for the two men, were hurled to Gov. C. C. Young, who was on his way here to await the court's decision.

The decision of the court, expected today, will deal with the case of Billings only, but it has been learned by the United Press that Gov. Young will abide by the judges' decision and that he will accord Mooney the same fate as his companion.

Mooney, whose original death sentence was changed to life imprisonment in San Quentin, made his plea for a pardon direct to Gov. Young, but Billings, who is in Folsom prison, was forced to make his plea to the Supreme Court because he had been convicted of another felony previous to his conviction in the famous bombing case.

Condemned Oriental
Gambles With Court

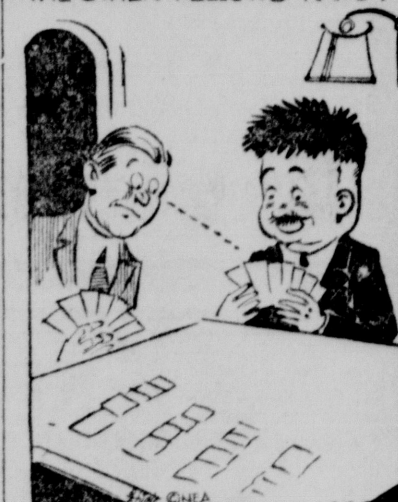

Santa Fe, N. M., July 2—(UP)—Woo Dak San, condemned Chinese slayer, probably will continue to gamble temporarily with the courts for his life, rather than submit to inoculation with trachoma germs in an effort to save himself, it was indicated today when the tangled legal affairs of the Oriental took a turn in his favor.

The New Mexico Supreme Court unexpectedly granted his counsel permission to file a motion for a third rehearing. W. H. Killenwater, attorney for Woo, announced the motion would be filed by the deadline, Thursday. The first rehearing of Woo's case was obtained by the prosecution the second by the defense.

Woo had intimated that he will submit to the dreaded inoculation to save himself from the electric chair, but it was believed that now all plans for the inoculation will be held in abeyance pending result of the rehearing.

Dickens looked upon Friday as his lucky day.

FREEPORT MEN
HAD ACCIDENT
EAST OF CITYAuto Overturned when Caught By Passing
Car This Morn

Cliff Hadley, Freeport music dealer, and Prof. M. G. McCready, music instructor of that city, narrowly escaped being crushed to death about 10:15 this morning in a "hit-and-run" accident which occurred about three miles east of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway in front of the McGinnis farm. A woman driving a light coach drove one of the line of traffic to pass the Freeport machine and in so doing struck the front hub cap.

The Freeport car was thrown against a concrete abutment of a culvert and then dropped off the end of the culvert on the shoulder of the highway and turned upside down in a deep ditch. A valuable electric piano was being taken to Freeport from Ashton and this was tied on the rear of the Freeport car.

The Freeport machine landed with its wheels in the air, the motor running and both the music dealer and instructor pinned beneath. A slight ditch probably prevented their being instantly killed when the top was crushed as they were thrown into it. Had the car headed into the ditch, the heavy piano would have been thrown forward on the two men. The woman driver sped on toward Dixon without ascertaining the seriousness of the crash she had caused.

Mr. Hadley escaped without an injury and Prof. McCready sustained only a slight scratch on the left leg and minor bruises. A wrecking car from Dixon hoisted the wrecked truck and damaged piano from the ditch and hauled them to Dixon. An effort was being made by the police who were the first to be notified of the accident, to locate the reckless woman driver.

Sharkey Signs To Tackle Champion

New York, July 2—(AP)—Jack Sharkey, Boston sailorman, signed articles today through his manager, Johnny Buckley, for a fifteen round return engagement with Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion, in the Yankee Stadium here Sept. 25. The Boston gadabout, who lost his bid for the championship on a foul to Schmeling in four rounds June 12 agreed to take 12½ percent of the challenger's share of the purse. He also agreed to purchase Schmeling's freedom from Arthur Buelow, depopulated manager, out of his own share of the proceeds.

Although Schmeling now is aboard ship for Germany, his manager of choice, Joe Jacobs, probably will sign articles for him within a few days. Schmeling's chief demand regarding a return bout was that he be freed from his former manager whose contract does not expire until October.

Warrant Out For
Peru Bank Officer

Chicago, July 2—(UP)—A federal warrant was issued today for Stanley Brylski, Jr., Assistant Cashier of the Peru National Bank, accusing him of embezzling approximately $40,000. The warrant was issued by U. S. Commissioner Edwin C. Walker. Brylski is accused of keeping a set of duplicate ledgers and of failing to post checks deposited with the bank. An audit of his accounts up to now has shown a shortage of $20,000, and missing sheets are expected to raise the total to at least $40,000. Included among the missing funds is $10,000, represented in five accounts of the City of Peru.

SIDES AGAINST
SENATE IN LAW
PROBING FIGHTVotes $250,000 Fund To Enable Commission
To Continue Work

Washington, July 2—(UP)—The House voted, 110 to 16, today to stand by President Hoover in his demand for a $250,000 appropriation to carry on the work of the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission during the fiscal year beginning yesterday. The vote was taken without any preceding debate.

The Senate previously had reduced the fund to $50,000 with the restriction that the money could be used only for investigation of prohibition. All Republicans present on the floor and many Democrats sided with the President against the Senate.

The House action sends the issue back to a conference between the House and the Senate for final settlement.

A unique rule written especially for this purpose enabled the House to take its position with Mr. Hoover. The Commission appropriation was completely eliminated by the House a week ago on a point of order and the Senate provided only $50,000 when it passed the Deficiency Appropriation bill.

The special rule proposed by the House Rules Committee and adopted by the House provided that all the standing rules of the House to the contrary notwithstanding, Chairman Wood of the Appropriations committee should be given the right to propose the $250,000 fund.

Attack Loesch.

When the resolution was brought before the House today Reps. O'Connor and Dickstein, New York Democrats, took occasion to denounce Frank J. Loesch, Commission member, for a recent attack he made on American Jews and Italians.

Loesch, according to Dickstein, blamed members of these two races largely for the prevalence of bootlegging and racketeering activities in the United States.

Both declared a man who made such a "false and libelous" statement should not be permitted to serve on a commission of such importance. They demanded his removal. Loesch's speech also was denounced in a statement yesterday by Rep. Celler, Dem., N. Y.

Dickstein's effort to have a newspaper article quoting Loesch printed in the Congressional Record was blocked by Rep. Sproul, Rep., Ill.

Youths In Wreck
On Lowell Road

Nelson Lambert, Henry "Bud" Utley and Woody Thompson, all of Dixon, experienced a narrow escape from serious injury at 3:15 yesterday afternoon on the Lowell Park road near the Country Club when the Studebaker sedan in which they were riding, turned completely over, throwing the three young men out of the machine. The car was driven by Lambert and was going toward Lowell Park.

Near the intersection with the Colony road the rear wheels skidded in loose gravel and the car turned over and was badly damaged. The driver sustained a fracture of the left arm and Woody Thompson escaped with only minor bruises. The two young men who received the worst injuries were taken to the Dixon public hospital and later removed to their homes.

Shaulls in police court on a charge of peddling without a license. EXTRADITION
OF GUNMAN IS
BEING PLANNEDGangland Guns Blazed
In Heart of Chicago
Loop Last Night

Chicago, July 2—(AP)—An indictment charging Frankie Foster, Chicago gunman under arrest in Los Angeles, with the murder of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Tribune crime reporter, was returned by the grand jury today.

Immediate steps were taken for the extradition of the fugitive gunman, whose indictment was the first definite action in the wake of the assassination three weeks ago. The indictment was returned after Foster, Herman N. Bundesen and Peter Von Frantzius, sporting goods dealer, testified before the grand jurors. Von Frantzius, admitted he had sold to Foster the pistol found beside Lingle's body.

Assistant State's Attorney Q. J. Chott was detailed to draw up the necessary papers seeking the extradition, and Chicago authorities at once communicated with Los Angeles authorities to arrange the proceedings.

While Foster had not previously been accused as the actual killer, he was believed to have important information in connection with the slaying.

GANG GUNS BLAZED

Chicago, July 2—(AP)—A new burst of gang gunfire blazed in the loop last night and two gunmen escaped behind a smoke screen after an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Jake Zuta on his way home from the Detective Bureau with a police escort. The policemen fired several shots but missed the gunmen.

The brazen outbreak of the hoodlums, flaunting the police war on gangsters declared after the killing of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter, three weeks ago, took place on brilliantly lighted State Street in the heart of the downtown district. It cost the life of a street car motor-man and wounded another unconscious spectator, struck by wild bullets.

Zuta, reputed vice chief of the "Bugs" Moran gang, appears to have been the target of the gangsters' gunplay, but it also was considered possible that Zuta himself was an ally of the gunmen, putting his police escort "on the spot." Zuta and three companions disappeared during the fast and fierce pitched battle.

Asked For Escort

Jake and a dozen other suspected Moran hoodlums had been under arrest in connection with the Lingle slaying. They had just obtained their freedom on bonds at the bureau, and appearing afraid to go home unprotected, Zuta had pleaded with Lieut. George Barker, bureau squad leader who had taken part in the Moran mob roundup, for a safe escort across town.

Lieut. Barker, criticized by Chief of Detectives Norton for providing the escort for Zuta, was suspended by Acting Commissioner of Police John H. Alcock, pending an inquiry.

"Lieutenant, I'd never get home alive," Zuta said to Barker, "get me across the loop, won't you?"

"All right, get in my car," Barker replied. "I'll drive you as far as State and Lake streets" (the northern edge of the loop).

The police officer got in the driver's seat. Zuta sat in the tonneau with Albert Bratz and Leona Bernstein. Solly Viston sat in front with Barker. Bratz, Viston and the Bernstein woman had been arrested with Zuta.

Traveling Slowly

Lieut. Barker started south from detective headquarters, driving north on State street slowly. The machine had just crossed Quincy street, traveling at a snail's pace behind a streetcar, when a sedan that had been behind swung from the rear and drew alongside, between the car and the curb.

A tall fellow in a tan suit and panama hat opened the door of the sedan, and stepped to the running board. From a shoulder holster he drew a pistol. He aimed deliberately and sent a stream of bullets at the police machine.

Lieut. Barker, jammed on the brakes and leaped to the street platoon in hand. The other car stopped also. By this time a second gunman was firing, leaning from a window of the automobile.

When the shooting began, Solly Viston scrambled over the seat into the tonneau, and huddled with Zuta, Bratz and the woman.

Barker now was standing in the brightly lighted street, exchanging shot for shot. Behind his automobile was a streetcar, unable to proceed because of the police machine. At the controls was the motorman.

EXTRADITION
BEING PLANNED

Lusader, who stared, horrified, as the guns blazed.
Several hundred persons had sought shelter in doorways and behind posts. A few dropped behind refuse boxes on the sidewalk.

Motorman Killed
A bullet from the weapon of the tall man in the running board of the gunman's car struck Lusader in the neck. He died a few hours later. An aged night watchman, Olaf Svenste, was struck in the arm by a bullet.

The police car was only a few feet behind the other machine at State and Madison street. It was there that a smoke bomb was dropped by the machine in front, sending up a screen of smoke behind which the gunmen hoped to hide the progress of the car.
Lieut. Barker, however, kept the machine in sight, and had nearly overtaken it at Wabash avenue and Madison when his own motor sputtered and died—its gasoline exhausted. The gunman's car disappeared in traffic, going north.
In the meantime Zuta and his companions had gone. The bullet marks in the police car indicated that one of them may have been struck in the leg.

FOSTER CLAIMS ALIBI
Los Angeles, July 2.—(AP)—Five Chicago racketeers were in jail here today pending extradition proceedings against their leader, Frankie Foster, wanted in connection with the slaying of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, newspaper reporter.
Foster, alleged "arsenal keeper" for the Bugs Moran gang, was said by Chicago police to have supplied the gun to Lingle's slayer; two of the arrested quitted, George Davis and Frankie Fletcher, were declared to be gangsters associated with Foster.

John Scherping, Chicago officer who participated in the arrests here, indicated Foster would be the only one extradited. Foster announced he would fight extradition and said he had an "iron clad alibi."
Foster insisted the pistol used to kill Lingle and subsequently traced to him was taken from him by Chicago police more than year ago and never returned. Foster also asserted he arrived here "a few weeks" before the Lingle killing.

Lad Who Killed
Father Is Freed

Sallisaw, Okla., July 2.—(AP)—A fourteen-year-old boy, who shot and killed his father after being beaten for refusing to go after more liquor for his parent, was freed today by county authorities.
The boy, Albin Benton, Jr., shot his father last night with a rifle to save himself from a further thrashing.
County Attorney R. O. Ingle said no charges would be filed.
The boy said his father had been drinking heavily and he feared he would be killed. Two brothers, a sister and neighbors confirmed the story.

Gunman Meets Death
On Roof Of Hotel

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 2.—(AP)—A man believed to be Earl Mulard, Philadelphia, alleged gunman, was either shot to death today by detectives or committed suicide while running across the roof of a small hotel in the downtown business section.
Two detectives, who had been searching several days for two men who pawned diamonds found to have been stolen, pursued Mulard to the top floor of the Regal Hotel. The man leaped from the roof of the main hotel building to the roof of an annex. As he landed on the roof a detective shot.
The man turned a revolver toward the officers, but changed his mind about firing at them, pointed the weapon at himself and pulled the trigger. The victim was dead when police reached him but it was not determined whether he committed suicide or died from a bullet wound inflicted by detectives.

aloft with 50 gallons of gasoline for the flares.
The two planes had not been in contact since 8:40 last night and the record-setting plane's fuel tanks were rapidly being emptied.

John and Kenneth kept the "City of Chicago" sweeping smoothly across the clear sky while their brothers made a quick change of spark plugs and started the refueling ship again. The "Big Ben" had caused some concern last night when it began missing, and after the final contact in the air the mechanics immediately began grooming it for today's flight.

Refueling Completed
The refueling was accomplished successfully at 7:30 A. M. (C. S. T.) and the "City of Chicago" dropped away for another days grind, breaking its 150th contact. Not all of these contacts, however, have been with the "Big Ben" radio ships and Dale Jackson's "St. Louis Robin" having sent lines aboard the endurance plane.

John today dropped a note to be telegraphed to his sister, Miss Mabelle Hunter, who is ill in a hospital at Danville, N. Y. It was an answer to her message delivered by radio through the medium of her mother yesterday, in which she expressed worry over their speech and health.

Note To Sister
The note read:
"What do you say 'Boy' (Mabelle's nickname)? Who don't know how to break a record. Well we have close to 500 hours and the motor is running fairly good yet. I don't know how much longer it will last. Beans (Kenneth) is getting tired and wants to come down at 520 hours but I want to stay up 'till Monday."

"It has been tough but nothing like the other flight. We are feeling fine although Beans is getting pretty sleepy."
"We go out and work on that old motor as if it were on the ground (holoney). But I did go out on the catwalk this morning at 2 o'clock and put a new breaker in the mag-neto."

"Now don't go worrying about us because we are all right. We can still talk and to prove it, we will all come down and make a big speech for you."

Lighting Expert
Addressed Kiwanis

"There are three fundamentals in lighting of the average place of business today, the electric sign on the outside, the system of display window lighting and interior illumination," R. H. Harridge, lighting expert of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company, told members of the Dixon Kiwanis club Tuesday afternoon.

"The electric sign, however attractive, brings the visitor to the business section to the place of business. The lighting of the display windows next attracts the attention of the prospective purchaser and the system by which the interior of the place of business is illuminated creates the desire to buy."

Mr. Harridge who recently came to Dixon as illumination expert for the I. N. U. company, is a graduate of the electrical engineering department of the University of Michigan. His talk was upon the subject of "Lighting and merchandising." The intensity of the lighting of the interior of a place of business depends entirely upon the type of store and interior conditions, the speaker said.

Babe Ruth Injured In Afternoon Game

New York, July 2.—(UP)—Babe Ruth suffered a painful injury to his left hand in attempting to catch a fly which went for a home run in the second inning of the second game of the New York Yankees-Chicago White Sox double header here today.

Carl Reynolds, Sox outfielder, made the homer which was his second of the game.

New York, July 2.—(AP)—With Babe Ruth's 31st home run of the year as the most important feature, the Yankees took the first game of today's double header from the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 1. Roy Shier held the Sox to 3 hits. Henry was on the mound for the Sox.

RUM RING USED
TRUCK AND BOAT
INDICTMENT SAYSAlleged Syndicate Is Revealed In Federal
Jury's Charges

Cleveland, July 2.—(AP)—An alleged rum running syndicate that operated an overland route from Florida and a fleet of boats across Lake Erie to distribute liquor in middle-western cities stood revealed today with the release of secret federal indictments naming 11 men on conspiracy charges.

Principals of the ring, investigators said, were Daniel F. Coughlin of Pittsburgh and Cleveland, James Courtney, now in Canada, and John O'Boyle of Cleveland. The organization formerly was alleged to have been headed by "Handsome Larry" Davidson, whose extensive rum running activities have placed him in Atlanta penitentiary.

The syndicate, according to the indictments, operated a fleet of trucks from Fernandina, Fla., to McKeesport, Pa., where liquor was re-shipped to Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Woodlawn, Pa. Its other arm reached across Lake Erie between Canadian ports and points along the Erie (Ohio) county shore. Headquarters were in Cleveland, with Courtney directing the Canadian operations via long distance telephone, it was charged.

Coughlin surrendered late yesterday, pleaded not guilty and with transporting 8,022 cases of whiskey to McKeesport May 14 addressed to "E. Hubbard, care of the McKeesport Banana Distributing Company."

Coughlin is free under $10,000 bond pending appeal from his recent conviction on a conspiracy charge at Toledo with Davidson and is under $1,000 bond on another conspiracy charge at Pittsburgh.

The others indicted were Harry and Glen Fisher, charged with operating a Cleveland garage for the rum trucks; Patrick J. Burns, yardmaster of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at the Demlar yards in Allegheny County, Pa.; John Dolan, A. Arlis and M. Doty, alleged to have transported liquor over the Fernandina-McKeesport route; Pete Bucholz, alleged to have piloted the motor boat carrying 33 cases of champagne; and Harry Goodman, alias Harry Gordon, said to have been a liquor distributor.

The Fisher brothers surrendered and were released under $2,500 bond each of their pleas of not guilty. Others of the men indicted, including O'Boyle, are being sought by Pittsburgh and Cleveland agents.

Brechon-Wells
Wedding Today

This morning at 8 o'clock a very quiet, yet pretty wedding took place, when Miss Sylvia Brechon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Brechon of Dixon became the bride of John Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wells of this city. Rev. Father J. J. Clancy, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church, officiated at the ceremony at the parish house.

The bride, a winsome girl, was daintily attired in pale blue georgette with white accessories. Mrs. Maurice McKune, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore peach flat crepe with white accessories. Maurice McKune acted as best man for Mr. Wells. Immediately after the wedding, the young couple left on a wedding trip for the Delta of Wisconsin, and Chicago.

Mrs. Wells is a charming girl. She attended the Dixon high school and has many friends here. Mr. Wells is a pleasant young man of sterling qualities and has a fine position with the Reynolds Wire Co. They will be at home in Dixon to their many friends after July 10th.

TO A LITTLE CHILD

SUFFER the little children to come unto me.
Perhaps that day our Master stood
Awearied with the foolishness
And blindness of the world;
He would have freely given, scorned,
And so he may have turned to feel
The sweet inconsequential kiss
Of Childhood, and the fond embrace
That strays a moment hence to this
And that—whatever it can trace
Of joy and interest everywhere.

Ah, so he may have halted there,
Apart from hypocrites and lies,
And rested where upon his road
Your innocence its sweetness showed Behind your starry eyes.

—A. Jacqueline Shaw.

Reception Was Well Attended at St. Paul's

The reception held at St. Paul's Lutheran church last evening was well attended, about two hundred guests being in attendance. The reception was in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Carl Caughman, who with their three children have been visiting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Warren. Rev. and Mrs. Caughman are on furlough from India where Rev. Caughman is pastor for St. Paul's church.

Last evening the church was prettily decorated for the occasion and Rev. Caughman gave a most interesting address to those present. Both he and his wife were in native costume and made many friends here last evening. He told of the customs and the people of India and of his interest in his work, in which his wife is his very able assistant.
At the close of the address tempting refreshments were served by the ladies of the church, closing the happy evening.

Rhodes Family Reunion, Lowell Park

The fourteenth annual reunion of the Rhodes family was held Sunday, June 29, at Lowell Park at Dixon, Ill. There was an excellent attendance, forty-eight being present. It had been postponed for two Sundays because of the rainy weather. The day was just fair for the happy occasion as Old Sol did not seem to have full control, as the sky at times was heavy with clouds, and there were a few showers, but notwithstanding all unfavorable conditions of the weather, everyone seemed to heartily enjoy themselves. At noon a long table was arranged in the pavilion, where all were seated for dinner, and an abundant and delicious repast was served, all remaining at the table long afterward engaged in chat and exchanging reminiscences, and enjoying the ice cream and cake. The president, Lester Paine, of Dixon, then called all the relatives to order for the business meeting and new officers were elected as follows: President, Fred Gilbert; vice president, Sam Rhodes; secretary and treasurer, Sam Rhodes. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the State Pines near Polo on the second Sunday in June, 1931. At a late hour, all departed for their homes, after happy farewells, having spent a most delightful day and all look forward to a similar happy event next year, and look for a larger attendance and better weather. There were forty-five relatives and three guests present. Some could not attend because of sickness. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Rhodes, Mrs. Carrie Winders, and daughter Esther, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gilbert and daughter Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kested and daughter Esther, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Paine, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Parks, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Warner and daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Warner and daughter, Mrs. Ralph LeFevre, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Millhouse and daughter Dorothy Mae, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Rhodes, all of Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rhodes and sons Chester and Vernon, and daughters Hazel, Lucile and Lorraine, of Palmyra; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lie Van and daughter Avis of Nachusa. June Still Favorite Month for Marriages

New York, July 2.—(UP)—June is still the favorite month for marriages, but it is not so popular this year as it was in 1929 when money seems to have been more abundant.

A United Press survey of 28 cities showed that in 22 of them the number of marriage licenses issued in June of this year was smaller than that of June, 1929. The six cities that showed increases were Denver, Fresno, Sacramento, San Francisco, St. Louis and Lincoln, Neb.

In almost every case the explanation given by license clerks is: "People can't get married unless they have enough money."

The following table shows the comparative figures for June, 1929 and June, 1930 for several of the cities included in the survey:

| City | 1929 | 1930 |
|---------------|-------|-------|
| Los Angeles | 2,600 | 2,300 |
| Indianapolis | 529 | 418 |
| St. Louis | 1,095 | 1,100 |
| Chicago | 5,615 | 4,949 |
| New York City | 7,304 | 6,644 |
| Boston | 1,020 | 880 |
| Pittsburgh | 1,465 | 1,375 |
| Philadelphia | 2,234 | 1,925 |
| Detroit | 2,220 | 1,751 |

June is still the favorite marrying month in Dixon and Lee county, also. The fore part of the month there were one or two weddings in the paper each night and toward the last of the month, there were two and three weddings listed.

Zopf-Biesecker Wedding Celebrated

The Lee Center Congregational church was the scene of a very simple but pretty wedding Saturday morning, June 28, when Miss Ruth Zopf was united in marriage to Mr. Leslie Biesecker with the double ring ceremony in the presence of forty intimate friends and the relatives.

The church was very prettily decorated with pink and blue flowers and ferns. At 9 o'clock Miss Faith Dishong played "Oh Promise Me" and then to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, the bride and groom took their places before the flower banked altar. Soft music was played during the ceremony, which was read by Rev. C. E. Frazier. Miss Mary Grace Biesecker, sister of the groom acted as maid of honor and Carl Degner as best man. Doris Frazier and Bert Clayton Fish were the flower bearers.

The bride was charming in a pink silk dotted net over pink satin and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink roses and pink sweet peas. The maid of honor was daintily dressed in blue organdie over blue satin and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink roses and orchid sweet peas. To the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March the bridal party wended their way to the church parlors where the young couple received congratulations and best wishes, and a wedding breakfast was served by Mrs. Hattie Lippincott and Mrs. Laurence Taylor. A three tier cake adorned the bride's table. The decorations there were pink and blue.

Mrs. Biesecker is a charming young lady. She is the only daughter of Mr. John Hanneman. Mr. Biesecker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Biesecker. He is a young man of sterling qualities and is employed by the Lee Co. Service Co. The young couple left on a short motor trip. Mrs. Biesecker's going away dress was orchid silk crepe with an orchid hairband hat.

They will reside in Franklin Grove. Out of town guests were Harry Biesecker, Mrs. Elizabeth Lady of Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Biesecker of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Biesecker of Rockford; Mrs. Ida Pippert of Dixon; Helen, Catherine, and Herman Schaffer of Franklin Grove; Helen Mae Fish, Mrs. Harry Fish and children of Dixon, and Bob Tait of Dixon.

Entertain for Mr. And Mrs. Spindler

On Thursday evening a group of friends enjoyed a picnic supper at the Pines. Afterwards bridge was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leeland Corbin. Mrs. Walter Spindler of Middletown, O. who has been visiting Dixon friends was an out of town guest. Mr. Spindler later joined his wife in a week end visit here.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Spindler were guests of honor at a dinner, given by the members of the Four Square Bridge club. Mrs. Corbin delightfully entertained today with a breakfast bridge members of the Four Square Bridge club. Mrs. Spindler and Mrs. Edward Campbell of Middletown were out of town guests present.

After the ceremony they left for Rockford. The bride will remain at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aurand, who reside on a farm west of Grand Detour, until Sept. 1 when the young couple will reside in Dixon.

On Monday evening the young folks of the community organized and gave them the usual good cheer with very voluminous but not too harmonious music, after which they were treated to ice cream and other refreshments.

ROY BRIDGES

A Nation That Made Itself

Out of the mists of bygone ages march heroic figures . . . more like gods than men. We see ruthless conquerors . . . mighty warriors . . . great adventurers. Dimly, we hear the horns and clangor of battle; the bloody banners of victory we see, the gold of plunder.

And in that mighty procession, filled with the lust of glory and gold, steps a straggling, incongruous little army. Men with home-made uniforms . . . men with feet bound in rags . . . men with no uniforms at all. Men carrying a flag with the stars of heaven and the red stripes of suffering upon it . . . men with a light in their eyes that makes them invincible.

These are the men we honor today . . . men from different countries, of different creeds, of different manners of speech, who fused their differences on the altar of freedom . . . who made themselves into a nation founded on the principle that all men are created equal.

Across the horizons of history, these men, unthinking of self, gleam with a brighter radiance than the conquerors of old . . . for the light that was in their eyes is still our inspiration 154 years afterward . . . and the reflection of their rusty bayonets today dazzles the world.

All praise to the heroes of '76 who made possible the happiness we enjoy today . . . all honor to the little nation that created itself, with a single deathless gesture, on that long ago Fourth of July!

TOURING WITHOUT MAPS.

Probably there is no way of finding out just how many Americans are going to spend their vacations taking motor trips this summer. Certainly the number will run into the millions. A glance at any main trunk highway on a summer day would prepare one to accept any estimate, no matter how high.

This being the case, it is melancholy reflection that a great many of these tourists—perhaps a majority—will not really have vacations at all. They will return to their homes more tired than when they started out. Instead of fitting themselves for another year of work they will have made a new drain on their nervous and physical energy.

The automobile has given us a marvelous new field in the realm of vacations. The pity is that we do not yet seem to have found out the best way to take advantage of it.

There seems to be something about an automobile that compels a man to be energetic and restless. The average family sets forth on a vacation tour dedicated to the proposition that they must cover at least 300 miles a day, if for no other reason than to prove that they and their car can do it; and there is no surer way to waste a vacation than this.

The wise ones, on the other hand, refuse to look at mileage marks. Often they will not even carry maps. Their aim is not to cover as much ground as possible but to loaf along as restfully as possible. They are the ones whose vacations do them some good.

For the automobile, while it will oblige the energetic with great bursts of speed, is also a fine thing for the loafer. Once you catch on to the trick of it you can make vacation touring the most restful recreation imaginable. If you are content to idle along, caring not in the least whether you make Jonesboro that night or whether you have to stop at Smithville, halfway to Jonesboro, willing to dawdle down the pike letting any other driver speed past you if he wants to—then the joys of motoring are really yours.

For then you can be, not a restless wanderer, but a contented wanderer. There is a difference. The restless one consumes his own energy. The contented one stores it up. The restless one passes up charming towns and beautiful lakes and valleys in order to get to wherever it is that he is bound; the contented one stops when he comes to a place he likes, turns down any road that appeals to him, never frets himself about the distance he has gone or the distance that still lies before him.

If you have never tried that kind of motoring, this summer would be a fine time to give it a whirl. Leave your map at home, and set out without any destination at all. Make only one resolution—that you will not, under any circumstances hurry. Drive just for the fun of it and not to get somewhere. You will find motoring to be a lot more enjoyable than you ever dreamed it could be.

HEADING OFF THE UGLY RUMORS.

As the murder of Alfred Lingle, Chicago police reporter, passes farther into the background, the number of ugly rumors about the man and his disproportionately large income seems to increase.

Lingle, mingling with the underworld as part of his job, had an income far greater than that paid him by his paper. Some of the current reports attribute this to shady practices on his part; others assert that he made his money in a perfectly legitimate manner in the stock market.

Whatever may be the real facts in the matter, this much becomes evident; the most important thing in the world for a man in Lingle's position is to avoid even the appearance of evil. The reporter, the policeman, the holder of public office—these men must take extra precautions to have all of their dealings open and above suspicion. In no other way can the rise of ugly rumors be headed off.

The plane that made the record drop in our opinion is the one built last year for the Schneider cup races at a cost of $90,000 and put up for sale the other day for $1.

The return of horses is being urged now as a more economical means of transportation than the motor. But the problem of shoes will still be with us.

Firemen in an Illinois town have been instructed to answer all alarms clad in their pajamas. With hose to match, probably.

"Money," says Max Schmeling, "is not everything." And to those who paid to see him fight money, apparently, is nothing.

"Congressmen," says Art Shires, "are just a bunch of plowhands." The Great One shouldn't talk. He's a fielder himself.

After smoking 144 cigarets in 15 hours to break a world's record, a Bulgarian was declared to be in perfect condition. His experience made him inhale and hearty.

THE TINYMITES

The Tinies found the toy man was a very clever man because he whitened toys from blocks of wood and made them all look fine. Wee Clowny said, "I'd think that you would split those chunks of wood in two. If I should try to carve I know that that luck would be mine."

"Oh, no," replied the clever man. "If you just try, I'm sure you can do quite a job of carving. Here's a knife! Now try your luck. Just take it easy. Don't work fast. That's how I make the wood blocks last. Go right ahead and carve and then call me if you get stuck."

So Clowny calmly tried his hand and soon began to understand just how to use a real sharp knife. He did the best he could. The man then said, "Do just like me and follow pencil lines you see. Before I ever start to carve, I mark them on the wood."

Of course the others stood nearby and shortly Carpy heaved a sigh.

"My goodness, I'm a carpenter. I ought to carve," he said. "I've done a lot of wood work and I'm sure that I could do this grand." The Toy Man smiled and calmly said, "Why sure! Go right ahead."

It wasn't long till everyone was having oh, just heaps of fun. They all carved for a little while, then bid the man good-bye. Soon, as they traveled down the street, the Travel Man said, "Now we'll meet a fine old hat vendor, and some new hats you can try."

Then, when the vendor came in sight, he greeted every Tinymite and started showing them queer hats. Their shape was really rare. Each Tiny bought one very quick and Scouty said, "My, they look slick! I'm glad I own one 'cause they're like the little Russians wear."

LEE'S RESOLUTION

On July 2, 1776, the Continental Congress adopted the resolution of Richard Henry Lee of Virginia declaring the United States free and independent.

Lee introduced his measure on June 2, 1776, and supported it by a speech of the most brilliant eloquence. He moved, in part, that "these united colonies are and of right ought to be free and independent states, that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is and ought to be totally dissolved."

This resolution, which, of course, was the Declaration of Independence, was not only passed July 2, but also signed on that day. The custom of celebrating the Fourth of July in commemoration of this occasion, is therefore historically incorrect. John Adams prophesied wrongly when he wrote his wife, "The second day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival."

Another fact not generally known in connection with the signing of the Declaration is that John Hancock and Charles Thomson, president and secretary respectively of the Continental Congress, were the only men to sign the real Declaration. Other signers affixed their signatures to a copy of the original document.

R. J. Ball, editor of the Loveland, Colo., Reporter-Herald, says:

That the greatest, most dynamic force in any community is the modern, aggressive and progressive newspaper.

It is the mirror through which community activities, community progress and development, community industries, business and social life are reflected to the outside world.

It gives to the community an unselfish service, a service the value of which cannot be measured in dollars and cents, a service of benefit to even the most humble citizen, through constant and persistent effort to advance those things that mean most for community growth and development and the happiness and comfort of its citizens.

The independent press, not throttled by political bias, selfish greed nor personal aggrandizement, fighting always for what is right and just and fair, with ever friendly consideration for the views and opinions of all classes of citizens, is the real power and guiding force that builds cities, makes for happy homes and a contented, wide-awake citizenship.

"The Home Town Paper" is a local institution in which every loyal citizen should be a stockholder—not through financial investment, but through the investment of good will and a spirit of helpfulness to the end its services may be enlarged and its usefulness gain added impetus.

A community is largely judged by the appearance, character and type of its newspaper, and should influence its business interests to do their full part in giving to their paper the volume of business essential to its success and the encouragement so necessary to keep it abreast the times in improvements and development.

Three File Answer To Majestic Suit

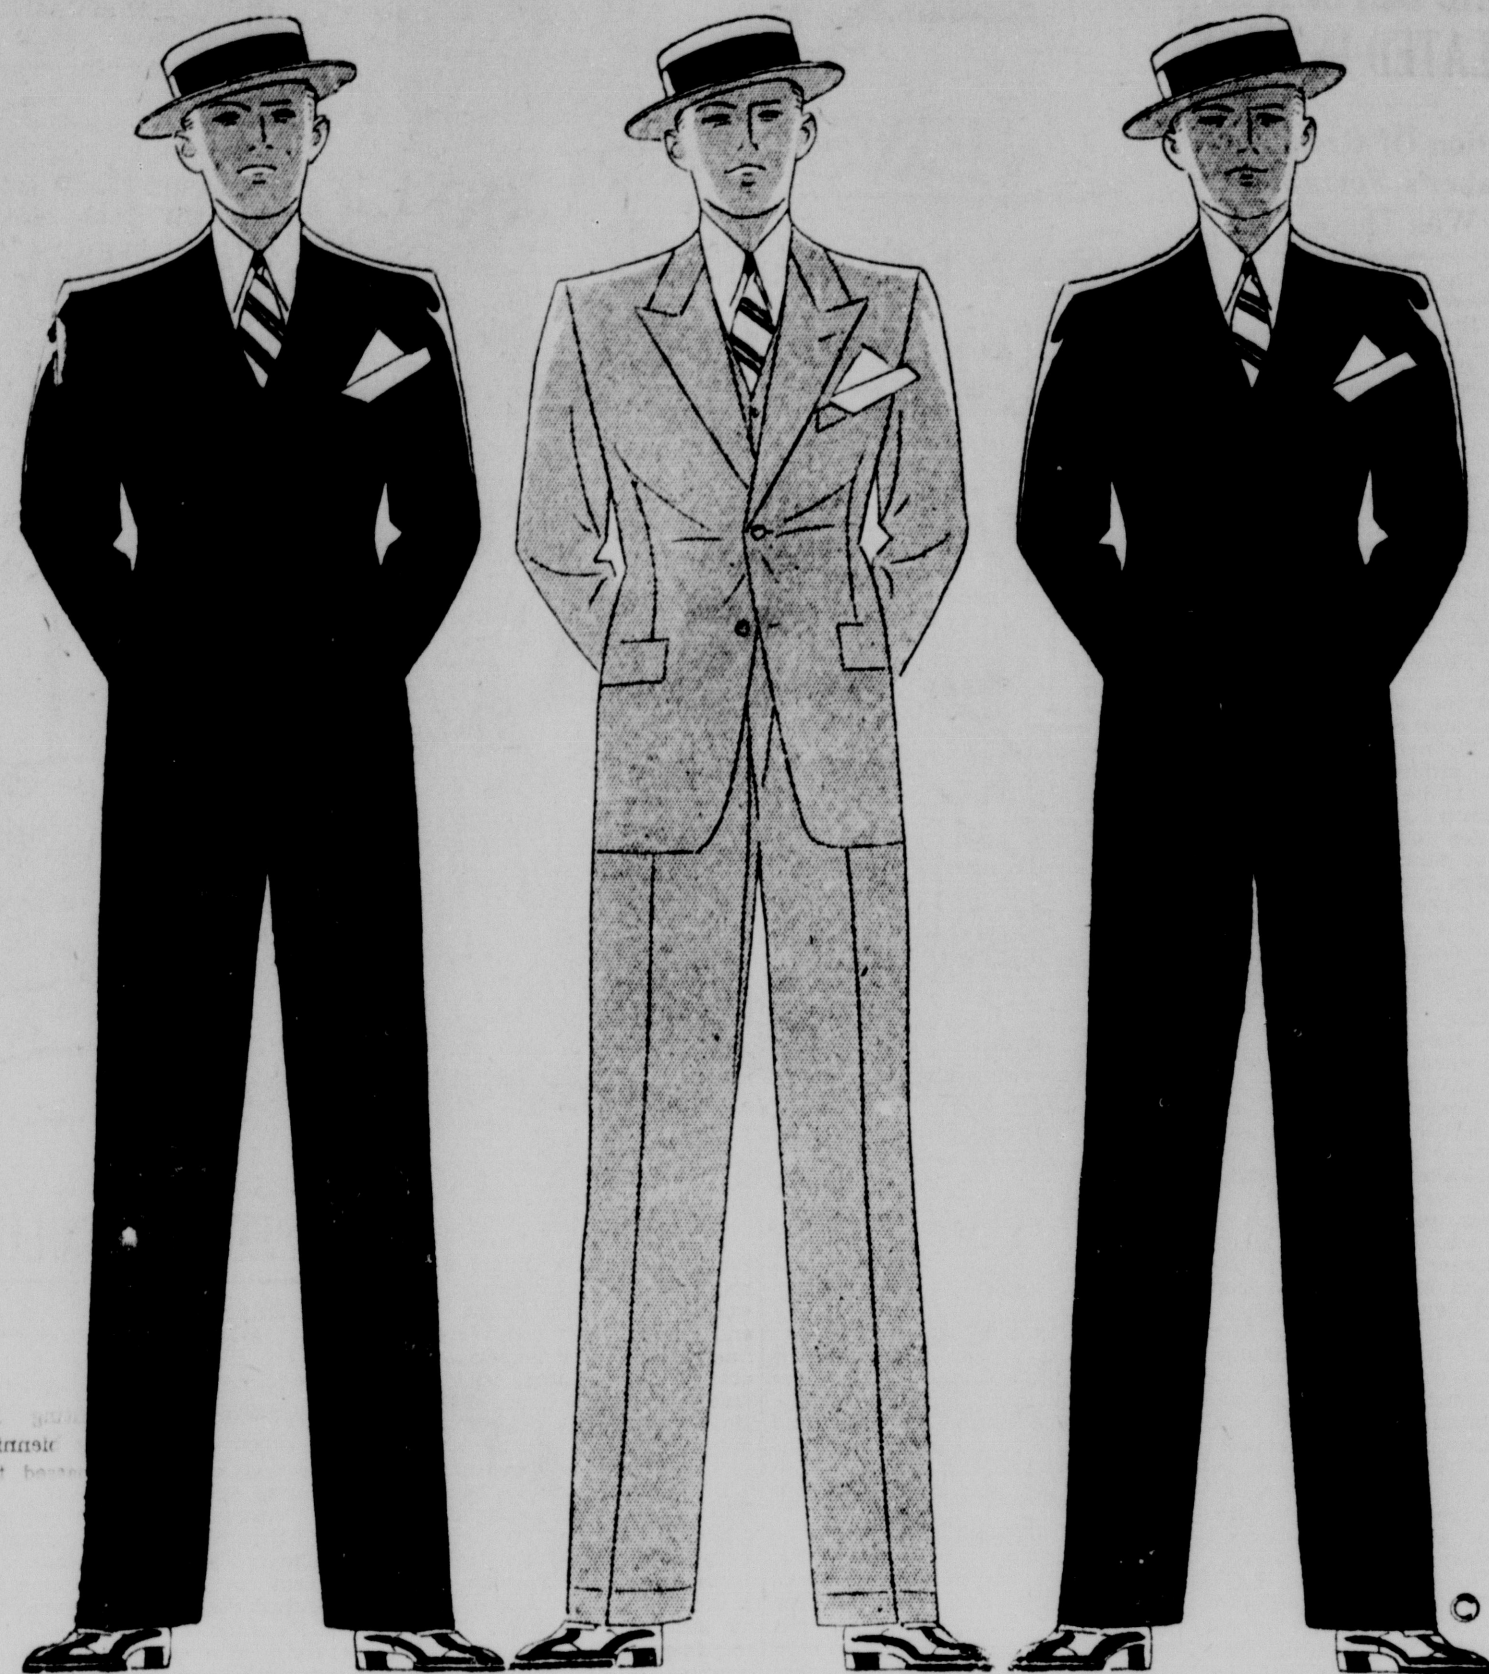

Wilmington, Del., July 1.—(UP)—American Telephone & Telegraph Company, Western Electric Company and General Motors Corporation, three of the defendants in the so-called radio trust suit have filed their answers to the government denying the existence of the combination alleged by the government and also denying that at any time they have engaged in interstate commerce in radio communication or radio apparatus.

The defendants admit that they own and control a large number of radio patents, but declare that in many instances a number of the patents overlap and that therefore it is necessary to use many of them in combination to complete a satisfactory article.

DEERE'S LIFE IN GRAND DETOUR IS RELATED IN BOOK

Foundation Of Great Plow
Maker's Fortune
Was There

(NOTE—The following biography of John Deere, inventor of the steel plow and the founder of Deere & Co., appears in the new Dictionary of American Biography published by Charles Scribner's Sons, New York City.)

Deere, John (Feb. 7, 1804-May 17, 1886), manufacturer, was born at Rutland, Vt., the third son of William Rindol and Sarah (Yates) Deere. His father was a native of England, while his mother was born in Connecticut, the daughter of a British army officer who served through the entire Revolutionary war and subsequently settled in Connecticut.

John had the usual country boy's experiences, attending the common schools of his native town and acquiring an ordinary education. At the age of 17 he started to learn the blacksmith's trade, beginning as an apprentice to Capt. Benjamin Lawrence of Middlebury, Vt. This apprenticeship required four full years but at the end of that time Deere had fully mastered his trade, proving it during the succeeding twelve years by the admirable work which he did in various towns of his native state.

Moves West.
In 1837, when 33 years old, he went west, taking his tool kit with him. He headed for Illinois and eventually settled at Grand Detour in that state, where he immediately opened a blacksmith shop, sending back for his wife and children in the following year.

His skill was quickly recognized and the pioneer farmers about him kept him and his forge busy hammering out lap rings for chairs, welding cleaves, and laying their plow-shares. His contacts with the farmers early revealed the fact that the plow brought from the east was most unsatisfactory for working the prairie soil of the new west, and Deere immediately began experimenting on plow improvements.

Within a year three new plows were made by Deere and his partner, Major Andrus.

The Steel Plow.
These plows had a wrought-iron landside and standard, and for the former wooden mouldboard there were substituted a mouldboard and share of sheet steel cut from an old sawmill saw and bent to shape over a log shaped for the purpose, and with the beam and handles of white oak rails. While the excellent work which these three plows did aroused considerable interest and they were readily sold by Andrus and Deere, the latter continued experimenting, particularly in an effort to determine the curvature of the steel mouldboard that would be most efficacious for scouring not only new land but old and sticky bottom land as well.

Ten improved plows were made in 1839, and in 1840 a second anvill was added to the shop and forty plows were produced. The business continued to develop until, in 1846 the annual output had been increased to approximately a thousand plows.

Moves to Moline.
About this time Deere became convinced that Grand Detour was poorly situated in regard to transportation and sources of power and raw materials, so he sold out his interests to Andrus and moved to Moline, Ill., where he organized a new company.

He had concluded, too, that the greatest obstacle to further plow improvements was the quality of the steel plates then available. He knew the kind of steel he needed, but found that it could be obtained only in England. Accordingly he ordered a quantity of English steel sufficient for fifty plows which he made in his new plant in 1847 and distributed throughout the country in order to test out his theories.

The experiment proved entirely successful, whereupon he opened negotiations in Pittsburgh for the manufacture of steel plate and brought about the first manufacture of plow steel in the United States. In J. M. Swank's History of the Manufacture of Iron in All Ages

(1884, p. 297) is written, "The first slab of cast plow steel ever rolled in the United States was rolled by William Woods, at the steel works of Jones & Quigg, in 1846 and shipped to John Deere of Moline, Ill."

There is some question about Swank's date, but the event undoubtedly occurred circa 1846 or 1847, and by 1857 Deere's annual output of plows had risen to 10,000.

Son Is Partner.
In 1858 he took his son Charles into partnership, and five years later, his son-in-law, Stephen H. Velle, and in 1868 the firm was incorporated under the name of Deere & Co., with John Deere president, his son, vice president and general manager, and Velle, secretary, the business having by that time expanded to include the manufacture of cultivators and other allied products known as "plow goods."

Deere continued as active president until his last illness when his son succeeded him. He was twice married: first on Jan. 28, 1827, to Damaris Lamb of Granville, Vt., who died at Moline, Feb. 17, 1865; and a second time in 1867 to Lucinda Lamb, a younger sister of his first wife.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

FEDERATION WOMEN'S CLUBS AGAIN DECLARES FOR PROHIBITION

The General Federation of Women's Clubs, representing 2,500,000 members at its recent biennial convention in Denver, passed the following strong resolution:

"Whereas there are sinister influences seeking to undermine the efficacy of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and to render the laws for enforcement thereof impotent, and 'Whereas, individuals and organizations favoring the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment are making strenuous efforts to destroy the faith of the people of the United States in prohibition, and to promote the idea that prohibition is contrary to the principles of our government, therefore be it 'Resolved that the General Federation of Women's Clubs, through its delegate body reaffirms its conviction that prohibition offers the best means for curbing the liquor traffic and its attendant crimes, and pledges its continued enforcement thereof."

Rumors that when the General Federation of Women's Clubs met in Denver for its biennial convention there would be strong opposition to any attempted resolution favoring support of the Eighteenth Amendment and the laws to enforce the same, were shown to have had no foundation when, on Saturday morning, June 7, the Federation by an overwhelming majority, and with an outburst of enthusiasm, placed itself on record as convinced that "prohibition offers the best means for curbing the liquor traffic," and as "pledging its continued support to the Eighteenth Amendment and rigid enforcement thereof."

It was a dramatic moment, tense with expectation, when, after preliminary details, Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of the federation, called upon Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, chairman of the committee on resolutions. That on prohibition given at the beginning of this article headed the list, and Mrs. Seymour called for remarks. An amendment offered to delete the word "sinister" from the introduction of the resolution was seconded, whereupon Mrs. J. C. Pearson, of Oklahoma, sponsor of the resolution, stepping to the front of the platform, said, as quoted by the Denver Post:

"The time has come for this federation to take a definite stand against sinister forces at work to undermine the fundamental law of our land. If I must furnish an illustration of what the committee means by 'sinister influences,' I will direct your attention to the report of this convention's stand in a local morning paper which claims that we have agreed to compromise. Nothing is further from the truth, nothing more sinister in its application, I hope this convention will take its place by the side of President Hoover for law and enforcement."

I believe that we are entirely justified in the use of the word, 'sinister,' said Mrs. Edward Franklin White of Indiana. "I have made several investigations, and I have found that influences backed by millions of dollars are at work to undermine the amendment. I call those influences sinister."

Mrs. Virginia White Speel of Washington, D. C., chairman of the committee on rules and procedure—looking as though she belonged in the throne room at Buckingham Palace, according to the reporter—left the floor and walked to the stage to explain that she was in favor of the resolution as written. "I like the word 'sinister,' although it is a dangerous word and fraught with dangerous meaning," she said. "I feel that any movement which strikes at the foundation of our government by undermining our laws is a sinister movement. There are those in this body not in sympathy with this resolution. Now is the time for them to speak or forever hold their peace. I object to those who make a farce of law because they object to one law. No matter how specious may be the promises of the friends of liquor that the saloon will never return if the law is modified, we are not deceived, for the saloon and its evils would return."

PAIN IN RIGHT SIDE GONE AFTER USING KAVATONE

Never Has a Medicine Created Such Talk and Such Widespread Admiration as Kavatone.

CHARLES PHILLIPS.

"For years I suffered untold miseries with my stomach, and at times the pains that centered in my right side were so severe that I felt I could endure them no longer," said Mr. Phillips, well-known lumberman of Alamo, Michigan. "Gas would form after every meal and the bloating pains caused by this gas were terribly painful. My condition finally became so bad that I could hardly work."

"Many of my friends were taking Kavatone and were praising it so highly that I thought I would give it a trial. Just a few days after I began taking Kavatone I noticed that my appetite improved, and that the food agreed with me and no longer caused those agonizing gas pains or bloating. Continuing with the treatment, my nerves quieted down, my strength returned, and best of all, I am never bothered at all with any pains in my right side."

Hundreds of letters as enthusiastic as the above have been received from sufferers of rheumatism, neuritis, constipation, nervousness and such like ills and ailments.

Kavatone is sold by all the best druggists in Dixon and in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

7000-MILE AIR RACE PRIZES TO TOTAL $36,500

Leading Pilots of U. S. are Expected to Compete in Aerial Derby

Detroit—(UP)—A 7000-mile air-race around the United States, with $36,500 in prize money awaiting the pilots is expected to attract America's most famous fliers here for the start on July 21.

With the most dangerous part of the proposed route, to Monterey and Mexico City, Mex., eliminated after a pathfinding tour, and eight cities offering prizes, in addition to the main award of $25,000 given by the American Cirrus Engine Inc., sponsors of the derby, to those pilots winning laps ending at their airports, the competition is expected to be keen with only the really expert birdmen having a chance of finishing in the money.

The itinerary July 21, Detroit to New York, with a noon stop at Buffalo or Rochester; July 22, Atlanta, Ga.; July 23, Little Rock, Ark.; or Memphis, Tenn.; July 24, Houston, Tex.; July 25, Midland or San Angelo, Tex.; July 26, Douglas, Ariz.; July 27 and 28, Los Angeles; July 29, Oakland, Calif.; July 30, Ogden, Utah; July 31, Omaha; Aug. 1, Chicago; Aug. 2, return to Detroit.

The route will be covered in 12 flying days. Montreal was also eliminated from the itinerary because it was believed difficulties might be met in connection with the customs. The scores will be tabulated on the basis of the elapsed time in going from one overnight stop to another.

The following cities have agreed to give additional prizes to pilots winning the laps ending on their respective fields: Atlanta, Houston, Los Angeles, Oakland, Ogden and Omaha, $1000 each; Douglas, $300. The Detroit Board of Commerce also will give $5000 to be distributed among pilots making the best time but not the first three, making the total prizes $36,500.

Captain Frank Hawks, former holder of the transcontinental non-stop record, and Luke Christopher, secretary of the National Aeronautic Association, are to be referees.

Landis Still Czar Of Baseball World

Chicago, July 2—(UP)—Judge Kenesaw M. Landis still rules organized baseball and the threat of the Class AA minor leagues to dethrone him has been discarded.

Owners of the American Association clubs, in a meeting here yesterday, decided to reject the proposal for a split season and adopted a resolution pledging their allegiance to Landis. At the same time it was indicated that the Federal Court suit brought by the Milwaukee Club to restrain enforcement of Landis' transfer order on Fred Bennett, Milwaukee outfielder and first baseman, would be withdrawn, thus giving Landis a clean-cut victory in his most recent skirmish with opponents of his regime.

Landis had ordered the St. Louis Browns part owners of the Milwaukee club, to declare Bennett a free agent, waive him to another club in the American League, or to sell him outright. The Brownie management refused this order and the Milwaukee club filed suit to restrain the order from taking effect.

The successful fight against the split season idea was led by Louisville, present leader in the Association flag chase.

Water Polo Sunday Off Lowell Park

Water polo played over a course which has been laid out in front of the Lowell park beach, is expected to attract a large crowd to the beautiful wooded city park Sunday afternoon, July 6. Secretary Edward Graybill of the Dixon-Sterling Outboard club announced today that a fleet of Rockford canoeists will accompany the annual Fourth of July cruise of the American Canoe association to Lowell Park Sunday afternoon and two teams will provide this novel program of entertainment.

A course will be laid out in front of the beach with suitable markers over which the thrilling contests will be staged. Four large canoes on each side manned with an operator and mallet contestant in each boat will form the teams. At a given signal the four canoes will start from the goals to enter the contests. Several other features have also been provided for the afternoon.

Holds Conscience Above War Demands

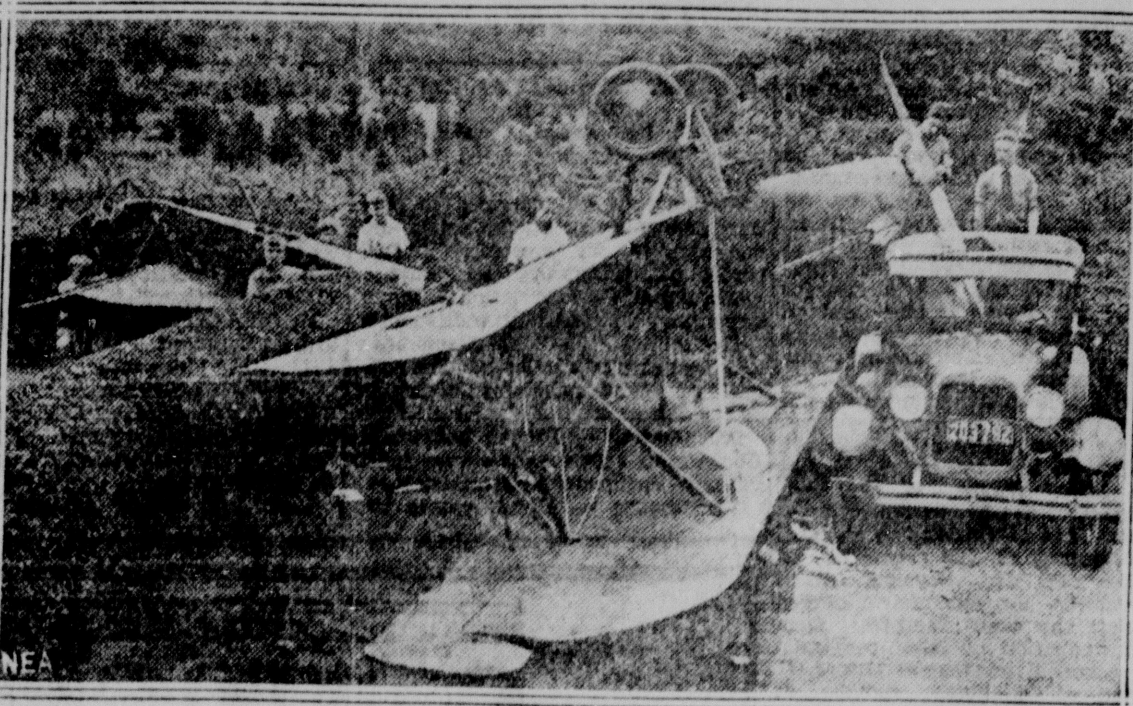

New York, July 1—(AP)—Declaring that an applicant for citizenship has the right to follow his conscience and religious scruples regarding the bearing of arms, the United States Court of Appeals has ordered that the Rev. Dr. Douglas Clyde MacIntosh, professor of Theology at Yale Divinity School, and Miss Marie Averill Bland be admitted to citizenship.

In its opinion the court reversed the decision of Federal District courts in New York and Connecticut. Both Dr. MacIntosh and Miss Bland are of Canadian birth. Dr. MacIntosh was a war chaplain with the Canadian Army and later served with the Y. M. C. A. with American troops in France. In his application for citizenship he declared he could not swear to bear arms in what he might consider an unjust cause.

When a Student Flyer Flunked in His Exams

The airplane business may have its ups and downs, but the turnover seems to be good. Here's what happened when Thomas O. Hutson, Washington, D. C., student flyer, made a miscalculation while trying to gain altitude at a suburban airport and snagged his landing gear on a power wire. The plane turned completely over and plunged its propeller through the top of a parked auto, as shown here, but Hutson escaped injury.

U. S. Tennis Stars Have Shown Class

Wimbledon, Eng., July 2—(AP)—Whatever titles it may win or lose, the United States already has made a record showing in the British tennis championships this year.

Experts vainly have sought for any previous time when so many Americans have been left to contend for the various titles at this late stage of the play.

Today in the semi-finals of the men's and women's singles, the United States had no fewer than five representatives. In doubles play, where America usually has been weak, the invaders from across the Atlantic also have fared well.

Pairings in the men's semi-finals found Jean Borotra, lone French survivor, battling Bill Tilden who generally has been able to beat the "Bouncing Basque" on any outdoor court. Indoors, Borotra has few if any equals. In the other semi-final, an All-American affair, Wilmer Allison, Fort Worth, Texas, youth who gave the tournament its biggest thrill when he conquered Henri Cochet on Monday, battles John Doeg, erratic star from Santa Monica, Calif.

In the women's semi-finals, Helen Wills Moody meets Mme. Rene Mathieu, French ace, and Elizabeth Ryan encounters the German Fraulein, Cecilie Aussem.

In the women's doubles, the United States still is represented by Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan, and Sarah Palfrey of Boston and Edith Cross of San Francisco.

Baseball Gossip

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Regardless of their humble position in the American League standing, the Boston Red Sox claim the best pitching in the major leagues. They can't hit well enough however.

A half dozen hurlers are working regularly and can finish a game. Milton Gaston, Jack Russell, Dan MacFayden, Eddie Durham, Hod Lisenbee and Ed Morris take regular and quite successful turns on the mound although the team is limited to an even break in its games and remaining just ahead of the cellar-holding Chicago White Sox.

Milt Gaston is perhaps the hardest worker and the most effective pitcher. He pitched again yesterday and held Cleveland to three hits in his sixth complete game in succession and his 13th of the season. He also made just as many hits as he allowed, having a perfect day at bat. The Red Sox collected 11 blows off Mel Harder, but the best score they could produce was 3 to 1. It was Cleveland's 16th defeat in 19 games.

Bob Grove, Philadelphia ace, did about as well as aGoston in the brief time the weather allowed the Athletics to play. He allowed Detroit one hit in five innings and won 4 to 1. The teams started out to play a double header, but the storm stopped them in the fifth inning of the first game, as it did New York and Washington.

The National League was saved a lot of complications when the Brooklyn Robins blew up and lost to the St. Louis Cardinals, 15 to 7.

While this was going on, the league leading Chicago Cubs were losing a 7 to 5 decision to the Giants. The Cubs are a game and a half ahead now, but the Robins, had they won, would have found themselves in the strange position of being ahead in the percentage table and behind in games.

Kiki Cuyler's two home runs and Hack Wilson's one were all that produced tallies for the Cubs.

Pittsburgh replaced Boston in fourth place by defeating the Braves, 8 to 3.

FOUL FROM LOW BLOWS TABOOED BY BOARD RULE

N. Y. Commission Says Fighters Must Wear Real Protectors

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
New York, July 2 (UP)—Fouls from low blows have been legislated out of existence in boxing contests in New York State as a result of the most dramatic action ever taken by a boxing commission.

The New York State Athletic Commission has ruled that each boxer must equip himself with adequate abdominal protection and continue fighting no matter where he is hit. If a blow lands below the belt and a fighter goes down, he will be counted out exactly as if the punch landed above the belt.

The new rule, passed yesterday by the three commissioners, James A.

Before and After Taking

The change that punishment makes in a boxer's face is shown in the picture of Jimmy Slattery, at the left above and below. The Buffalo fighter, who lost his light heavyweight title to Maxie Rosenbloom, right, seems healthy and happy in the picture at the top, while below, left, his face is puffed and swollen. The new champion, right, a New York boy, doesn't exhibit any effects of their 15-round battle.

Farley, William Muldoon and J. J. Phelan, will go into effect with the Sammy Mandell-Al Singer lightweight championship bout at Yankee Stadium July 17.

For striking an illegal blow, or a punch below the belt, the only penalty under the new rule will be the loss of the round in which it occurred.

It is now up to every boxer to wear a protector which will render a low punch harmless," said Chairman Farley. "It has been demonstrated that such protectors are available. If a boxer goes down claiming foul now he will be counted out. If he gets up the round will be scored in his favor."

Under the new rule Max Schmeling would have been counted out when he failed to answer the bell for the fifth round, and Jack Sharkey would have won by a knockout.

The new rule is the outgrowth of tests made by Sam Mandell and Al Singer wearing a "Taylor cup" and both found that the protector was foul-proof.

TWO ROUGH AND TOUGH BOYS TO MEET THIS EVE

Griffith And Risko To Battle In Chicago Stadium Ring

BY BERT DEMBY
United Press Staff Correspondent

Chicago, July 2 (UP)—Two rough and tough fist fighters, both of whom have had their ups and downs, meet in the Chicago Stadium tonight to decide which is the more logical choice for a chance at the heavyweight title.

Gerald Ambrose Griffith, long since dubbed "Tuffy," will be out for his third straight win over Johnny Risko, the Cleveland rubber man, and hopes for a victory to reassert his claim for serious attention in heavyweight circles. Risko, fresh from his "comeback" victories over Vittorio Campolo and Paulino Uzcudun, is confident he can conquer the Sioux City tough boy and get back in the rank of Class A challengers.

Betting odds favored Griffith at 6 to 5 with little Risko money in sight. The attraction seemed certain to draw at least 16,000 fans.

For Griffith, tonight's fight is all-important. Since his unexpected knockout by Jim Braddock two years ago, Tuffy has been climbing fast toward the top. Then came his even more unexpected technical knockout from Jack Gagnon. Subsequently he won a decision over the same Gagnon.

In their two previous meetings, Tuffy beat Risko by a seventh round foul in Detroit a year ago, and a 10-round decision in New York last winter.

Risko, on the other hand, is said to have settled down to the serious business of fighting his fights. He has long been known as such an in-and-out that he has been given little serious consideration, except as a trial horse. Tonight he will be out to prove that his recent victories over Campolo and Uzcudun were forerunners of the "new" Risko.

STUDENTS WILL PLAY TWO BASE BALL CONTESTS

Will Be Staged at Conclusion Of Sheriff Miller's Lessons

Amateur baseball enthusiasts, students of the Telegraph's course of instruction given by Ward T. Miller, will match their talents in two games to be played as a close of the interesting series. Plans for the games were practically completed yesterday afternoon when the east end of the county boys received their instruction at Webber's field north of Compton.

The interest which has been shown in the series of instructions by the former major league star outfielder has far exceeded expectation and some fine results have been obtained. The instructor will select a team composed of Dixon and Amboy players to be taken to the Webber field next week to oppose a team picked from the class from the east end of the county. The following week it is expected that the east end team will come to Dixon for a return game on the Independent field. Another game is being arranged for the smaller boys who have taken a great interest in the course of instruction. A team will be selected from the Dixon class who will go to Amboy to meet the Powers-Leake delegation. A return game may also be played in Dixon.

Two Americans In Wimbledon Finals

Wimbledon, Eng., July 2 (UP)—An all-American final in the women's singles of the English tennis championships was provided today when Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, both of California, won their semi-final matches. Mrs. Moody defeated Mme. Rene Mathieu, France, by 6-3, 6-2. Miss Ryan won by default over Fraulein Cilly Aussem of Germany. Fraulein Aussem sprained an ankle and fainted when Miss Ryan was leading by 40-0 in their third set. Each had won one set, and each had won four games of the third set.

Mrs. Mathieu elected to play to Mrs. Moody, using a driving baseline game which kept the champion running from corner to corner throughout the first half of the first set.

Then Mrs. Moody took control and won the last three games of the set without apparent effort. Mrs. Moody didn't falter at any time during the second set.

Six villages and fourteen cemeteries were removed from the Sacandaga river in the foothills of the Adirondacks to make room for a man-made lake 27 miles long and costing $27,000,000.

COMMUNITY FIRE TRUCK WILL BE DELIVERED SOON

New and Modern Apparatus Will Pay For Itself In Savings

Word from the manufacturers of the community fire truck, for which many farmers and farm owners of the Dixon vicinity have contributed, is to the effect that the truck, built on a Dodge Brothers chassis, will be delivered within a short time. The truck has been equipped with the very latest apparatus for fighting farm fires, and it will be a valuable accession to this community. It will be housed and manned by the Dixon fire department will be cared for farm fires.

Concerning the value of such a piece of fire fighting equipment a news story from DeKalb says:

Through persistent efforts of Fire Chief M. H. McEvoy, modern farm fire apparatus has been installed at the central station here, and has paid for itself in three farm fires, by preventing destruction of all buildings.

"It was a tooth pulling task," Chief McEvoy stated, "to get the farmers of the community to realize that by the use of such a truck, they probably would save thousands of dollars in case of fire."

Farmers Skeptical
"We solicited several rural residents before getting the required number to purchase the truck, and there was considerable skepticism as to its value received. The first farm fire we were called to, one of the smaller buildings was burning fiercely and in another 15 or 20 minutes every building on the place would have been afire. In less than 10 minutes the original blaze had been extinguished and there was no danger of other structures on the place burning."

"Following this experience we were flooded with requests from many other farmers to allow them to contribute their share," the chief continued.

Farmers contributed $50 each toward the purchase price of the equipment. It is kept at the central station, and maintained by the local fire department. It also is available for city fires at any time.

Each Paid $50
Rural residents who paid $50 into the fund are entitled to fire protection with the aid of the machine as long as it remains in operation. The chief related one incident where in the truck was called about 14 miles from here. The windmill tank supply was quickly exhausted and 40 more farmers began hauling water from a nearby creek and filling a cistern. By this means the pumper never was out of water and the fire was squelched before any great damage had been done.

THE VALUE of SOUND DESIGN

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

THE GOOD PERFORMANCE of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance.

Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.

STARLINGS
When the blue summer night
Is short and safe and light,
How should the starlings
Any more remember
The fearful, trembling
Times of dark December?

They mimic in their glee,
With impudent jocosity.
The terrible ululation of the owls...
"Teddies," pressed
Close in the nest
Amid the chimney-stacks, are good all day
If their indulgent father will but play
At owls:
With predatory howls
And hoots and shrieks and whistles
And wild and dread.
Says one small bird,
With lids drawn up, cosily tucked in bed.
Such things were never heard
By me or you, true."

Spring of Joy."

MARTHA WASHINGTON USED 40 EGGS FOR "GREAT CAKE"
Mt. Vernon, Va.—(AP)—Here is Martha Washington's recipe for "great cake," the manuscript for which has been presented to the George Washington museum at Mt. Vernon.

"Take 40 eggs and divide the whites from the yolks. Beat them to a froth, then work four pounds of butter to a cream and put the whites of eggs to it a spoonful at a time till it is well worked, then put four pounds of sugar finely powdered to it in the same manner, then put in the yolks of eggs and five pounds of flour and five pounds of fruit. Two hours will bake it, add to it half an ounce of mace and nutmeg, half a pint of wine and some French brandy."

The recipe is in the original manuscript written by Martha Parke Custis for her grandmother, Martha Washington.

Stewart-Lindsay Wedding Brilliant Affair of Saturday

The Davenport Democrat of Davenport, Ia., Sunday morning June 29, printed the following account of the wedding of Miss Stewart and Mr. Lindsay, the latter a cousin of Mrs. Alice Beede of this city, who attended the wedding. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay visited her in Dixon prior to the wedding a number of times. On the night of the wedding when officious friends tried to trail them they sought refuge with Mrs. Beede at her Assembly Park cottage and left on their bridal tour the next day. The Democrat had the following account of the wedding:

The outstanding social event among Tri-city weddinges of late June was the marriage Saturday at the Broadway Presbyterian church, Rock Island, of Miss Elizabeth Montgomery Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McLean Stewart of 821 Nineteenth street Rock Island, and Edwin Blair Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wyman of 49 Hillcrest avenue, Camp McLean, Davenport, which was a ceremony at 4:30 in the afternoon, and which attracted wide interest owing to the prominence of the families of the young people.

The church was filled with friends for the service. Masses of summer foliage and white lilies, with tall flaming candles, offered a picturesque and most artistic setting for the bridal ceremony, large baskets of Madonna lilies with candelabra on the pulpit and pedestals Cathedral candles at the back of the choir loft where there was an altar arrangement of many twinkling lights among the Madonna lilies.

A Cyril Graham gave a half hour of nuptial songs and serenades preceding the ceremony while guests were arriving, the music modulating softly to the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus as the processional.

The ushers who led the bridal procession were William McLean Stewart, Jr., of Evanston, Ill., brother of the bride; George D. Emerson, Lawrence Evans and Blair Johnson of Davenport, the latter a cousin of the bride; Ben H. Potter and Charles C. Carter of Rock Island. They were followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Bransen, cousin of the bride, and Miss Margaret White, a girlhood friend, with Miss Florence Anne Stewart, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, all of Rock Island, and little Margery Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blair Johnson of Davenport, as flower girl, the bride coming last on the arm of her father, William McLean Stewart, who gave her away.

Mr. Lindsay, attended by his cousin, Burdette Blair of Tulsa, Okla., as best man, met the bridal party at the church where the marriage service was read by the Rev. Edward Williams, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church, assisted by the Rev. L. M. Coffman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Davenport, the service of the double rings being used.

The Mendelssohn wedding march was the recessional.

Bride in Tinted Orchid Satin

The bride was in a Patou gown of bridal satin of palest orchid sheen made with long sleeve, held close at the wrist, the bodice fitted and the skirt with wide flare and train from a yoke effect at the hips. Her wedding veil was of tulle in train length with an over veil of lace bordered in Duchess rose-point and arranged in graceful folds from the cap which was fashioned with a piece of exquisite old rose-point lace, a gift from the bridegroom's mother. Tiny peard orange blossoms were in half circle at the back, and the only ornament worn by the bride was the diamond brooch the groom had given her.

The bridal bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley, forming a sheaf of flowers from wrist to hem.

The maid of honor wore a long fitted gown of lace and chiffon in soft shades of blue-green, made high waisted with deep crouching rounce collar fashioned low at the back, circular flounces following the same style on the skirt. Long gloves to match the dress were worn and her hat was a Rio Rita flaring-off the face model in green Maline. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink roses, lilies of the valley and blue delphinium.

The bridesmaids were dressed alike in gowns of yellow chiffon, made with close fitting waist held at the high waist line with girldes of yellow velvet, a peplum flare of chiffon finishing the bodice, the long flared skirt touching the floor. They wore old fashioned mitts of chiffon to match their gowns made with quair ruffles at the top and their hats were Rio Rita models in yellow horsehair braid trimmed with bands of velvet of the same shade as the dress. Each carried a large arm bouquet of Talisman roses and delphinium in two shades of blue.

Stewart-Lindsay Wedding Brilliant Affair of Saturday

The Davenport Democrat of Davenport, Ia., Sunday morning June 29, printed the following account of the wedding of Miss Stewart and Mr. Lindsay, the latter a cousin of Mrs. Alice Beede of this city, who attended the wedding. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay visited her in Dixon prior to the wedding a number of times. On the night of the wedding when officious friends tried to trail them they sought refuge with Mrs. Beede at her Assembly Park cottage and left on their bridal tour the next day. The Democrat had the following account of the wedding:

The outstanding social event among Tri-city weddinges of late June was the marriage Saturday at the Broadway Presbyterian church, Rock Island, of Miss Elizabeth Montgomery Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McLean Stewart of 821 Nineteenth street Rock Island, and Edwin Blair Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wyman of 49 Hillcrest avenue, Camp McLean, Davenport, which was a ceremony at 4:30 in the afternoon, and which attracted wide interest owing to the prominence of the families of the young people.

The church was filled with friends for the service. Masses of summer foliage and white lilies, with tall flaming candles, offered a picturesque and most artistic setting for the bridal ceremony, large baskets of Madonna lilies with candelabra on the pulpit and pedestals Cathedral candles at the back of the choir loft where there was an altar arrangement of many twinkling lights among the Madonna lilies.

A Cyril Graham gave a half hour of nuptial songs and serenades preceding the ceremony while guests were arriving, the music modulating softly to the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus as the processional.

The ushers who led the bridal procession were William McLean Stewart, Jr., of Evanston, Ill., brother of the bride; George D. Emerson, Lawrence Evans and Blair Johnson of Davenport, the latter a cousin of the bride; Ben H. Potter and Charles C. Carter of Rock Island. They were followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Bransen, cousin of the bride, and Miss Margaret White, a girlhood friend, with Miss Florence Anne Stewart, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, all of Rock Island, and little Margery Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blair Johnson of Davenport, as flower girl, the bride coming last on the arm of her father, William McLean Stewart, who gave her away.

Mr. Lindsay, attended by his cousin, Burdette Blair of Tulsa, Okla., as best man, met the bridal party at the church where the marriage service was read by the Rev. Edward Williams, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church, assisted by the Rev. L. M. Coffman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Davenport, the service of the double rings being used.

The Mendelssohn wedding march was the recessional.

Bride in Tinted Orchid Satin

The bride was in a Patou gown of bridal satin of palest orchid sheen made with long sleeve, held close at the wrist, the bodice fitted and the skirt with wide flare and train from a yoke effect at the hips. Her wedding veil was of tulle in train length with an over veil of lace bordered in Duchess rose-point and arranged in graceful folds from the cap which was fashioned with a piece of exquisite old rose-point lace, a gift from the bridegroom's mother. Tiny peard orange blossoms were in half circle at the back, and the only ornament worn by the bride was the diamond brooch the groom had given her.

The bridal bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley, forming a sheaf of flowers from wrist to hem.

The maid of honor wore a long fitted gown of lace and chiffon in soft shades of blue-green, made high waisted with deep crouching rounce collar fashioned low at the back, circular flounces following the same style on the skirt. Long gloves to match the dress were worn and her hat was a Rio Rita flaring-off the face model in green Maline. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink roses, lilies of the valley and blue delphinium.

The bridesmaids were dressed alike in gowns of yellow chiffon, made with close fitting waist held at the high waist line with girldes of yellow velvet, a peplum flare of chiffon finishing the bodice, the long flared skirt touching the floor. They wore old fashioned mitts of chiffon to match their gowns made with quair ruffles at the top and their hats were Rio Rita models in yellow horsehair braid trimmed with bands of velvet of the same shade as the dress. Each carried a large arm bouquet of Talisman roses and delphinium in two shades of blue.

The marriage of Mr. Lindsay and Miss Stewart unites two well known distinguished pioneer families of the community, the grandparents of the bride having been early settlers highly esteemed in the business, civic and church life of Rock Island, her paternal grandfather, the late Dr. J. W. Stewart, having been active in the Presbyterian church, while the late Captain Robert S. Montgomery, Mrs. Stewart's father, came of old Colonial and Revolutionary stock. The bride graduated from Rock Island high school and the University of Chicago where she specialized in primary school work and was a member of the Esoteric club. She has been teaching the past year in the Glencoe, Ill. schools.

Mr. Lindsay also comes of prominent old Colonial families, members of which came to Iowa among the early pioneers. He is a grandson of the late J. E. YOUR CHILDREN

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

What kind of stories do you tell your children? Stories of good little bunnies, wicked witches, pirates, or maudlin tales of mistreated orphans?

There was a time, not so long ago, that psychologists preached the doctrine of mammyism to parents in regard to story reading and telling.

The story with the thrill was taboo, particularly if it contained the word "wicked" or dealt with witches, goblins, or trolls of distorted visage and ill-intentioned mind.

Here I shall make one permanent and irrevocable exception to the following paragraphs, and then go on with the story. No child under four should be told an alarming tale or an unhappy one. He should not even be told an exciting one, especially at night. Stories of animals who act like people, he will love.

Also stories of toys or other little folk like himself. He likes to picture himself in their places, for about this time his imagination begins to run away with him. He imagines that he is everything under the sun from man airplane to a turtle his little dream world is almost as real to him as his real world. His imagination does the work. But in the next year or so a change takes place in him.

An Impressionable Age

He is very impressionable now. He absorbs little sermons and becomes thoughtful about the difference between good and bad. But how can he learn about good over-coming evil unless there is an occasional evil factor in the stories he hears? Also, in all real stories there must be an obstacle to overcome. There is a world of meaning in the "wicked witch" or the "kind tailor" who breaks the spell of a "bad fairy," by dividing his last morsel of bread with a beggar. How can Tom show his courage unless there is a terrible "pirate" to fight, or Jack give an example of bravery without his "giant"? I do not see any reason for censoring these useful people.

Now there are stories such as Hansel and Gretel, in which a wicked witch holds Hansel in a cage to fatten him for eating, and ending by Gretel pushing the old girl into the oven she had prepared for roasting Hansel. These stories should be burned "as is." A story like "Rumpelstiltskin," the dwarf who stole the baby out of the poor queen's bed, and "The Rose Tree," depicting a flower not in which a young man's head had been buried—all these and their like should be cut out of a mother's story repertoire. As for "Red Riding Hood," I shouldn't make it to silly by changing it. But scaring details can be omitted. "Dirty work" should never be gone into detail.

Vary the Stories

If a child is not nervous, if he is a natural normal person, you can mix the story diet and give him a right stiff one occasionally. His imagination should be fed. If you "sweep off" a pirate or push a wicked dwarf over a precipice and make "the last of him" with no revolting details, or demolish a witch before she demolishes someone else, with a large fine sweep of your story brush, that's good for him.

I shouldn't go in too strongly on the adventure or witch demolishing stuff during the child's first five years. The animal stories are sufficient, then. But each year the story diet can be strengthened. A child loves to hear the same story over and over when he is little. Later he will beg, "Tell me another."

And if you can beg, borrow, or steal stories, tell him all he can hold. It is good for him.

But I should not feed him pap. If he is too nervous to hear real stories don't tell him any until he is older, and can stand a bit of a thrill.

Paris—(AP)—The rick-rack racket is having considerable influence on advance autumn styles, or rather the edges of them.

The dressmakers, one and all, have come to the opinion that there are other ways of finishing an edge than with a fine seam or a bias binding.

For instance there is staggered edging, while the knowing ones here call "staggering." Staggering is a modern tattered rendition of what once was called pinking.

Some people call stagger edging "saw-tooth trimming," and still others call it snip-finish.

In addition to the jagged unseamed edges, leading dressmakers are using scallops and horsetooth

U. S. SURVEYING POLLUTION AREA OF GREAT LAKES

Public Health Service Says
South End of Lake
Michigan Worst

Washington — (UP) — The U. S. Public Health Service has found through an investigation of the water purification systems along the Great Lakes that "the most highly polluted zone" is located at the extreme southern end of Lake Michigan, according to its report made public today.

Existing purification systems in that area were found by the Public Health Service to be "clearly overburdened."

"Other zones of relatively high though not in all cases excessive pollution, were found to be at the extreme western end of Lake Erie as the outlet of the Detroit river, and along the southern shore of Lake Erie between Cleveland and Sandusky," the report declared.

The report, which was based on a survey of 14 representative municipal filtration plants situated on the Great Lakes and connecting waterways, was made at the request of "interested" local and state authorities and was an extension of previous surveys of a similar nature in that territory.

The report said in part: "Owing to the great importance of the Great Lakes region from standpoints of population, commerce and industry, the maintenance of safe water supplies along these lakes constitutes one of the major problems of the country in this respect. With the increasing pollution of sources of water supply located in various marginal zones of the Lakes, this problem is becoming a more difficult one each year, taxing at present, in some instances the resources of modern water purification.

"The difficulties of obtaining safe purified water supplies from the Great Lakes are magnified considerably by the extreme variability existing in conditions of pollution of the lake waters at the several water intakes, which are located in or close to marginal zones of shore pollution, where water movements are subject to the vagaries of winds and counter-currents. In some instances the pollution of these zones probably is subject to seasonal variation, due to large increases in the sewage population residing along the Lakes during the summer season.

"As regards the comparative bacterial efficiency of the Great Lakes and the Ohio River plants, the former were shown consistently to be slightly less efficient with chlorination included, and decidedly less efficient with chlorination excluded, than the latter group. Detailed analyses of the data failed to disclose the reason for these divergences, which do not appear to be explained, as currently assumed, by the relatively lower turbidity of Great Lakes water. It is suggested that they possibly may be due to differences in the chemical composition of the two waters, notably in the hydrogen-ion concentration.

"From a study of the relationships observed between the bacterial qualities of the raw waters and effluents of the Great Lakes plants, and from an analysis of their variations, it was concluded, in so far as the production of final effluents conforming to the revised Treasury Department B coli standard is concerned, that an average density of B coli in Great Lakes raw waters, as delivered ed for purification, approximating an index of 4500 per 100 c. c. appears to represent an upper limit of permissible pollution, beyond which a majority of the Great Lakes filtration plants, as at present designed and operated, would be clearly overburdened.

"Mean densities ranging from 1000 to 4500 per 100 c. c. represent a doubtful zone, within which some plants might be an dothors might not be overburdened for a significantly large proportion of the time. With average densities ranging below 1000 per 100 c. c. the majority of such plants would not be expected to be overburdened except for a comparatively small proportion of the time."

POET'S CORNER

THE LONE EAGLE

Open wide the window and let a little "Son" shine in.

He is thy first-born son
Thy first, thy only one—
Of all his winning ways
His pretty playful smiles;
His joy at sight of thee,
His tricks, his mimicry,
And all his little wiles.

The little hands that clasp thee,
The innocent lips that press,
As Annie, hush thee upon her breast,
"He is so fair—"

Glossy is his golden hair;
Like a blue spot in the sky
Is his clear and loving eye
He is a jewel brighter far, than any ruby set

Within the circle that surrounds a kingly coronet.

His voice is merriest music, his eyes are deepest blue
And sparkle like two rose-buds wooing the morning dew.

It's rosy cheeks and its dimpled charms.

And it crows with delight in the Mother's arms.

And louder it laughs, and Annie's face

Wears a mother's smile at each embrace.

Soon will tell the wondrous news,
"That our baby has short clothes and pretty little shoes."

They'll be very dainty little things
With bow and buckle bright.

And fitted to dear little feet
So soft and smooth and white.

Annie sees the present only
Of the days so full of gladness

When her first-born's answering
Kiss

Thrilled her soul with such rapture,
That it knew no other bliss.

Annie sits beside the cradle,
Where the precious darling lies,
With the golden lashes drooping
Over his wondering baby eyes.

Sweet are the joys of home,
And pure and sweet; for they
Like the dews of morn and evening come,

To make and close the day.
Lindbergh Jr., you should see?
No dew-drop shines more brightly than he.

Greet him, with your heads uncovered.

Beavers doffed with low obeisance,
All hails off in his presence.

Sing the night, chased by the morning,
Sing the day that is now dawning.

For He's come, and sings in sweetest measure of Mars to see,
A glider he'll be.

Daily Health Talk

PREPARE THE CHILD'S MIND

By Robert L. Wittenberger, D. D. S.,
Washington, D. C.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. The headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

Any doctor or dentist can tell in the first five minutes a child spends in his office what sort of home training that child has had; what sort of mental atmosphere surrounds it; what sort of authority the parents wield. These things show themselves not in words but in actions.

A boy of nine is brought to my office. Signs of tears as he comes in. Mother in a coaxing voice says: "Now show the doctor what a fine little man you can be." "Will he hurt? He's going to hurt me—" and he starts to cry. I get him into the chair and put a napkin around him, but it involves a struggle, coaxing, patience. I pick up an instrument. Instantly his hands fly over his mouth: "Don't put that thing in my mouth. You're going to hurt. Oh, Mamma—" A sitting like that is a day's work.

Another lad comes in with his sister—eleven and nine. They are polite; curious in a natural, childish way about my equipment; the mother greets me with: "We have been counting the days until we could come, Doctor." The boy would have said "Ouch" once if my fingers had not been in his mouth, but under the circumstances merely grunted when the drill hurt. The little girl smiled at me and said: "Thank you very much, Doctor Wittenberger" as she got down out of the chair after a fairly trying half hour. But they were fresh when they left, and so was I.

What makes the difference? The PARENTS. Some parents do not tell their children what is coming until they walk into the office. Some "prepare" them by warning them of the pain. Some talk in the children's presence of their own hatred of dental and medical offices, of their horror of operations, and act as though doctors and dentists were ogres who delight in inflicting pain. The parents of the boy and girl of whom I have told are totally different. They started taking the children to dentists when they were three or four, and treated the novel experience like a trip to the circus, to be anticipated and enjoyed. Naturally, on looking over these baby teeth no pain was involved. But the "buzz wheel", the paper cups, the tiny mirror were all interesting, and the compressed air mouth wash gave them a great thrill. After that first trip "dentist" was a synonym for "friend" and they came to me when the family moved to Washington, expecting to enjoy my company rather than to fear and detest me. You parents with intelligence and a bit of forethought can prepare your children for the necessary and essential health measures, from brushing the teeth morning and night to having tonsils out—the easy daily habit to the possibly painful surgical procedure — without the slightest element of deception. If you do, your children will form good health habits and will act like human beings at the school health examination, in the dental chair, at vaccination time, when the toxin-anti-toxin needle pricks, and in other such times. If you fail, the youngsters will act like little frightened animals, and it will be your fault.

Will Attempt Solo Flight Of Atlantic

St. Joseph's N. F., July 1—(UP)—Capt. C. S. Wynne-Eyton, English aviator, arrived today with a small DeHavilland moth plane prepared to embark on an ambitious attempt to make a solo flight across the Atlantic.

Captain Wynne-Eyton arrived on the Furness liner Nova Scotia, bringing his plane crated up. It will be assembled at Lester's Field here and when the weather is propitious, the flier plans to attempt the single-handed flight, hitherto achieved only by Charles A. Lindbergh.

Captain Wynne-Eyton is a former squadron leader in the Royal Air Force and saw distinguished service in the World War as an aviator. He has been engaged lately in civil aviation and is considered to be a highly skillful pilot.

Urban F. Diteman of Billings, Mont., attempted the feat from Harbor Grace last October and was never heard of again. Lieutenant Commander H. C. MacDonald, the English aviator, was similarly lost in October, 1928. He also flew a moth plane.

Justice Dept. Now
 Directs Dry Force
 Washington, July 1.—(UP)—Ending
 a decade of prohibition enforcement, the Treasury today transferred 2700 of its agents, special investigators and administrators to the Justice department which now is charged with enforcing the laws under the eighteenth amendment.

The transfer carrying out a pledge made by President Hoover during his campaign, paves the way for what is generally expected to be the supreme effort to make the United States a thoroughly dry nation.

It was authorized by the Williamson bill which Congress passed recently.

Policies under the Justice Department were still in the formative stage today, but it was strongly indicated that henceforth new stress will be placed on obtaining local co-operation in apprehending prohibition law violators.

Hoover To Grant
 Senators Holiday
 Washington, July 1.—(AP)—Word that President Hoover will not ask the Senate to meet on the Fourth of July received a cordial welcome today from many weary members of that branch of Congress.

It was intimated at the White House that Mr. Hoover would have the special session for consideration of the London naval treaty convene on Monday, if Congress adjourns tomorrow or Thursday. Previously, the President had said the special session would be convened on the day following the adjournment of the regular session.

PENSION BILL'S RATE INCREASED BY SENATE VOTE

House May Insist President's Wishes Be Recognized

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—Its rates increased by the Senate in opposition to the wishes of President Hoover, the compromise World War veterans relief act went back to the House today with speedy disposition in conference predicted.

Republican leaders there moved to disagree on the Senate amendments, increasing the maximum pension for non-service connected disabilities from $40 to $60 a month, and sought to send the measure to conference at once. They were confident of more than enough votes to bring this about.

Meanwhile, a close watch was kept upon the White House for any indication of President Hoover's attitude toward the Senate bill. There were hints the rates it contained so far incurred the Chief Executive's displeasure that a veto was threatened.

After Mr. Hoover had vetoed the Johnson-Rankin bill and the House had sustained his action and then passed the compromise measure, it was said at the White House the President was opposed to any increase in the rates it contained.

Rates Compared
The rates of the Senate bill are the same as those of the Spanish-American War veterans bill recently enacted over Mr. Hoover's veto. A comparison of the Senate and House rates, all monthly, follows:

| Disability | Senate Rate | House Rate |
|-------------|-------------|------------|
| 10 percent | $10 | No Pension |
| 25 percent | $20 | $12 |
| 50 percent | $35 | $18 |
| 75 percent | $50 | $24 |
| 100 percent | $60 | $40 |

The increased rates of the Senate bill were adopted in an amendment sponsored by Senators Walsh of Massachusetts and Connally of Texas, both Democrats. The vote, which came late yesterday, was 37 to 26. The bill itself was approved subsequently, 56 to 11.

Would Prove Costly
Twenty-seven Democrats, nine Republicans and the one Farmer-Labor member, Shipstead of Minnesota, voted for the amendment, while the 26 opposing votes were all cast by Republicans, as were the eleven votes cast against the bill on final passage.

The bill would give World War veterans the pensions enumerated, regardless of whether they can prove their ailments to be the result of war time service. An amendment was approved by the Senate under which veterans who contracted venereal diseases while in the service would be authorized to collect pensions for disabilities resulting. Another amendment approved would bring tubercular patients within the benefits of the measure without the requirement that they prove an "active" case.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, who opposed the increased rates, estimated the Senate bill would cost the government $58,000,000 during the present fiscal year as compared with $31,000,000 under the House bill. Walsh disputed the Pennsylvania's figures, but agreed the Senate bill would be more expensive than that of the House.

Woman Killed On Eve Of Journey

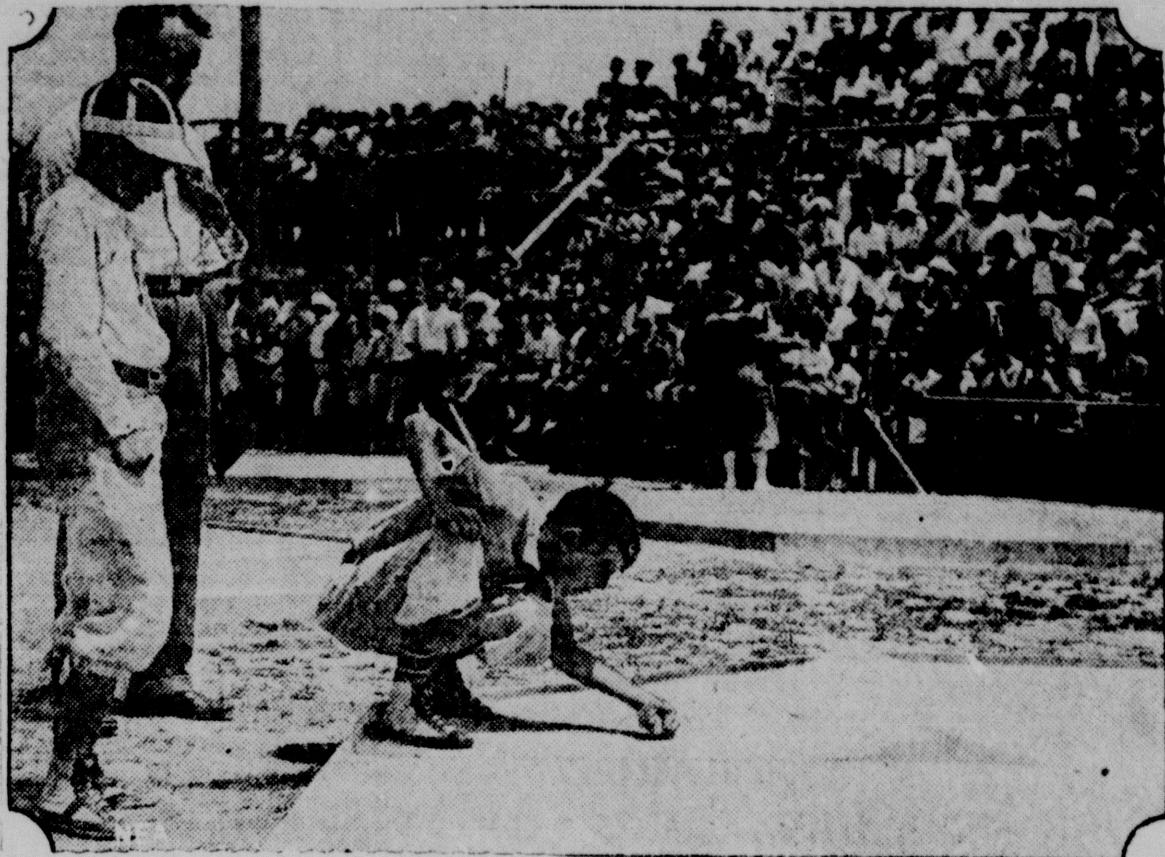

New York, July 2.—(UP)—An automobile crashed into a concrete abutment at an overhead railway crossing in the suburb of Elmhurst today, killing Miss Mildred Larson, 26, Chicago, and Glen M. Harnsberger, 29, of New York.

The couple, accompanied by Lawrence Harnsberger and his wife, of Forest Hills, L. I., were returning to the city after a party in honor of Miss Larson, who was scheduled to sail for Italy today.

The woman was dead when passing motorists removed her to the hospital and Harnsberger died several hours later. Harnsberger was bruised and cut and his wife's skull was fractured.

STICKS TO WATER NOW
SAFFRON WALDEN, England—Charles Phenias Martin, professional water diver, wandered into the alcoholic life and was fined and had his driving license suspended for being drunk in charge of an automobile.

As Nation's New Monarch of Marbles Won Crown in Championship Tourney

ABOVE—Knuckling down to the task of winning the national marble championship, James "Lefty" Lee is pictured above as he shot his way to victory at Ocean City, N. J. Behind him are Floyd "Midge" Walker, runner-up, of Decatur, Ill., and Paul Van Camp of Akron, O., a referee. In the background is part of the crowd of thousands of persons who witnessed the finals of the tourney.

RIGHT—America has a "boy king" too. He's James "Lefty" Lee of Columbus, O., shown here as Mayor Joseph G. Champion of Ocean City, N. J., placed on his head the crown which proclaimed him winner of the national marble championship. A watch valued at $75 was another prize for the victor, who won five and lost three games in the final match against Floyd "Midge" Walker of Decatur, Ill.

"ATTIC LOVER" CONVICTED BY JURY LAST EVE

May Invoke Statute of Limitations To Secure Freedom

Los Angeles, July 2.—(UP)—Otto Sanhuber, the little "attic man", convicted last night of manslaughter in connection with the death in 1922 of Fred Oesterreich, wealthy manufacturer, moved today to free himself from all guilt in the case.

Through his counsel, Sanhuber announced he would attempt to invoke the statute of limitations, which prohibits prosecution of a defendant more than three years after the alleged offense, except for murder and treason.

Sanhuber was tried for first degree murder, but the manslaughter verdict returned by the jury of six men and six women after deliberation of approximately seven hours, would permit an appeal under the limitation law, his attorney said.

Oesterreich's shooting in 1922 was denied on the witness stand by Sanhuber, although a confession he allegedly made to the grand jury was read to the jury. The 100-pound defendant repudiated the confession, asserting he told the story to shield Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, widow of the manufacturer.

Sanhuber, telling of his love for Mrs. Oesterreich, said he hid in the garrets of her homes for several years in order to be near her. She was indicted with Sanhuber on the murder charge and will be tried soon.

SHOOT CUCKOO ON CLOCK
Morehead City, N. C.—(UP)—It may be illegal to shoot song birds but Jim Kelly, negro, got away with shooting the "cuckoo" in the clock. Game Warden Silas Brown said he was not justified in arresting Kelly for "picking off" the artificial bird. Jim was awakened from his slumber at 3 a. m. by the cuckoo clock. He reached for a shotgun, fired at the bird and the noise ceased immediately. The bird retired in pieces behind its closed doors.

RIVERS-HARBORS BILLS SENT TO HOOVER TODAY

The Measure, With Some "Pork" Injected, Waits Action

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, July 2.—(UP)—The Rivers and Harbors bill, awaiting President Hoover's signature, constitutes a departure from a policy established 20 years ago, after a bitter congressional fight, which was designed to eliminate "pork" from such measures.

Congress at that time adopted the policy that proposed river and harbor projects must first be approved by the Board of Army Engineers in the War Department before being included in legislation.

In framing the present bill, Congress went beyond the engineers in many instances. Congress changed its policy 20 years ago after a bitter fight, led by the late Senator Burton of Ohio, who filibustered a rivers and harbors bill all night. This dramatic battle ended the old system whereby Congressmen, by "log-rolling," voted millions of government money for local bridges and other projects.

While there are some items in the bill not approved by the engineers, the measure carries out in some of its major provisions a large portion of President Hoover's inland waterway program whereby the vast system of the middle west will be joined with the Great Lakes and the Atlantic Ocean.

Two of the most important provisions authorize the federal government to take over the Erie and Oswego canals in New York state and the Illinois Waterway.

An appropriation of $7,500,000 for completing the Illinois waterway is authorized by the bill. This will connect the Mississippi barge system with the Great Lakes.

Diversion of water from Lake Michigan for floating commerce in the waterway will be limited to the figures fixed by the Supreme Court, or a maximum of 1,500 cubic feet a second after 1938.

Other large projects in the bill include $15,000,000 for a six-foot channel on the upper Missouri from Kansas City to Sioux City and $7,500,000 for a nine-foot channel on the upper Mississippi from the mouth of the Illinois river to Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Traction Ordinance Approved In Chicago

Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—With every ward in the winning column, the referendum yesterday on Chicago's traction ordinance carried by a 5 to 1 majority.

The vote was light, only 325,468 registering approval and 58,212 disapproval.

The Amalgamated Transit Company has pledged $200,000,000 in improvements in the next 10 years. Samuel Insull, whose interests control the new company, said his engineers had prepared working plans two months ago and were ready to start action.

"We want the subways started as soon as possible," declared the aid-manic committee favoring the ordinance. The ordinance also calls for street and elevated railway extensions and a universal transfer system.

Three feet in diameter and containing a three-pound tungsten filament, the world's largest electric light bulb has been made for a moving picture studio.

Ships On Lookout For Overdue Yawl

New York, July 2.—(AP)—All ships at sea have been requested to be on the lookout for the ketch-rigged auxiliary yawl Tanager, only 22 feet long, which was reported to have been seen in the New London, Conn., to Bermuda yacht race to fail to finish. The ketch left with 41 other craft from New London on June 22.

Aboard the Tanager were her owner, Paul M. Runyon of Edgartown, Mass.; his cousin, Ralph C. Rankin of Port Washington, N. Y.;

two friends of Rankin and Runyon, and a sailor. Despite the fact that the Tanager is about six days overdue, friends were not unduly alarmed. Both Runyon and Rankin are experienced sailors and friends thought they had run past the island for some distance before discovering their mistake.

According to authorities Evans stole a large number of chickens from his sister. He is being held to await the action of the Montgomery county grand jury.

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it. Tomorrow we'll explain the mistake and tell you the word. Then you can see how near a hundred you bat.

Blind 30 Years, Sees Wife Again

Speeding autos, modern styles, airplanes and the telephoto amazed J. F. Fish, founder of a Chicago business college, when he recovered his sight after 30 years of blindness, but his biggest thrill came when he saw his wife, as pictured here, for the first time since their honeymoon. His sight began gradually a few days ago.

Police Guard At Home Of Minister

New York, July 1.—(UP)—A police guard was established today over the home of the Rev. J. V. Cooper, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church in Brooklyn, after he had received a second letter, threatening death, and signed by "3X".

Police were inclined to believe the letter was the work of a crank and not of the fanatic who killed Noel and Joseph Moynihan in lonely sections of Queens Borough.

Several days ago Cooper received a package containing a hemp rope tied into a hangman's noose, accompanied by a note advising him to do it now. Today Brooklyn police made public the second note received by the minister.

Nurses will find Record Sheets at the B. F. Shaw Printing Co. 12131

CELEBRATION OF FOURTH PLANNED BY HARMONITES

Full Day Of Festivities Is Arranged For Hustling Town

Frank A. McCarthy of Elgin, who will be the speaker at Harmon's celebration on the Fourth, has been a member of the House of Representatives for ten years and is one of the Governor's floor leaders.

He has always taken a very prominent part in matters of legislation for the Illinois farmers. He was just recently appointed by Governor Emmerson as a member of the Illinois State Agricultural Advisory Board, which corresponds with the Federal Farm Board. It is expected that a meeting will be arranged between this Board and the Federal Farm Board to see what can be done for the Illinois Farm Board.

McCarthy also led the fight against the Chicago Milk Ordinance, at the head of 15,000 dairymen. He was also Chairman of the Road & Bridge Committee under the one hundred million dollar bond issue.

The program for the day includes celebration of mass in the morning, chicken dinner at noon, baseball and boxing shows in the afternoon, fireworks and dance in the evening, while during the entire day the Orphanage band from Freeport will furnish music.

"Oh, what a fuss!" she managed to say between two almost hysterical attacks.

"Come, Clarissa!" said Alan sternly.

His face indicated what he expected her to do. Still at sea, she linked her arm in her friend's.

"Come along, Judy dear! We're going to the cafe."

"No, really!" laughed Judy. "Oh, you do make such a fuss about things! I'm going out to supper with Mr. Gideon. He asked me long ago."

"Perhaps Miss Grant might be allowed to decide for herself," suggested Gideon with elephantine sarcasm.

When they broke up that night, Judy said.

"I'm going with Mr. Gideon," Judy said.

She was near to tears now—tears of furious indignation at being treated "like a kid," as she would have said.

"You are coming with us," Steyne said.

He also was beside himself, but white as a ghost and quiet as a deep stream, Judy stamped her foot.

"I'm not then! I'm not!" That finished it. The two measured glances, and the younger knew himself beaten.

Judy and Gideon went out to his waiting car. Clarissa, crimson with shame, hurried out into the lobby. Clara Jenks, secretly highly amused, waddled after her.

CLARA was in wonderful spirits that night. She had just secured her first really promising engagement on the stage, to play in a duologue with a famous comedian at an uptown theater. Her part was that of a drunken but good hearted landlady, and she was going to revel in it.

Chummy and Alan were just a little way ahead.

"Oh, Alan, was it necessary to be quite so cross with poor Judy?" the girl asked.

"You thought I was wrong, Clarissa!"

"It made me feel uncomfortable. After all, Judy can take care of herself, and Mr. Gideon had asked her first."

"He's not a fit man for her to be with," said Alan curtly.

All three boarded a bus and made their way to the Cafe Turc.

Pantages' Home Is Under Police Guard

Los Angeles, July 2.—(UP)—Guards were placed today around the home of Alexander Pantages, millionaire showman, who is at liberty on $100,000 bail pending an appeal from his conviction on an attack charge, after he reported having received a letter threatening him, his wife and their daughter Carmen.

A letter signed by the "Committee of Six" demanded $10,000 cash as the price of their lives. Pantages to police. The letter, mailed from Palms, Calif., gave minute directions as to how the money was to be paid.

A warrant ad was to be inserted in a newspaper here, the letter said, and afterward the gang was to send another letter telling Pantages where to place the money. The ad was dictated by the letter and read "Billfold containing money, papers and Elks lodge card lost. Liberal reward, phone—" and a Los Angeles telephone number was given.

Thick weather forcing Hodkins to fly low was believed to have caused him to run into power wires.

The plane was the second section of the night aerial and was west-bound to Chicago.

EUROPE TO TEST BARLEY DEVELOPED IN MICHIGAN

East Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—Michigan developed Spartan barley will be given the test of field experiments in several European countries this year.

Requests from several countries for samples of the barley have been received by the farm crops department of Michigan State college. It will be the first time the grain has been planted for test purposes outside the United States.

Spartan barley was developed here 13 years ago, and was released for commercial plantings about two years ago.

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Declaring that unprofitable returns from peaches during recent years caused growers to realize the need of organizations, Roane county, Tenn., producers have organized a cooperative marketing association.

LEE CO. GROWERS OF WOOL TO POOL THEIR SHIPMENT

Carload Of Wool To Be Shipped From Amboy
Coming Saturday

(By Lee Co. Farm Bureau)
The farmers of Lee County who have not sold their wool are planning to pool and ship their wool to the Central Wool Marketing Corporation, a subsidiary of the National Wool Marketing Corporation. Under the Federal Farm Board plan, the United States is divided into regions each regional collecting the wool within its territory. Illinois has no regional, therefore, the National Wool Marketing Corporation has designated that the Illinois wool go to the Central Marketing Corporation of Boston. Under this plan of the Federal Farm Board, all the large cooperatives in the U. S. have concentrated their wool. This will eliminate the competition of previous years, when each cooperative worked independently of the other. Under the present plan, all the wool will be sold under one head. At the present time, of the three hundred million pounds of wool produced in the United States, the National Wool Marketing Corporation has under contract over a hundred and twenty million pounds. This plan of concentrating the wool and sending to their own cooperative to the terminal market will eliminate the profits of the middle men and give the producer more for his wool.

Shipment From Amboy, July 5.
All the wool in Lee County to be shipped to the pool will be concentrated at the C. B. & Q. depot at Amboy, Saturday, July 5.
As yet there has not been a carload subscribed, but it is hoped that a sufficient amount can be signed up to fill a car. If not, it will be sent as through freight, which will cost a little more per pound than in carload lot. If you have not made known your intention of shipping your wool, let us know as we want to ship all the wool that the farmers in our county wish shipped. The wool will be unloaded on the Burlington platform at Amboy, beginning at 7:00 o'clock on Saturday morning, and will continue until 4:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon. All wool must be placed in wool bags, and will be marked and tagged, before being weighed.

Advance 90% of Market Price.
The Association will advance all the growers in Lee County 90% of the value of their wool at the time of grading on the market. This agreement is under the Federal Farm Board. Each grower will receive 90% of the price of their wool before it is sold, will be charged an interest rate of 6%. The remaining 10% of the value of the wool will be paid after the wool is sold.

Local Wool Buyers Bid Up.
As soon as the Farm Bureau entered into the pooling of wool through the Farm Board plan this year, the local wool buyers began bidding up on the price. The men who have not held their wool out have been able to receive quite a bit from wool buyers. At first they were not inclined to bid up so much, but when so much wool was being held out they commenced bidding up on price. The men who have the true co-operative spirit are holding their wool to pool through a non-profit organization is putting it on the terminal market, the wool markets of the United States, where the mills come and purchase their stock. In this way the middle man is eliminated. Under the present plan of the Federal Farm Board, all the large cooperatives of the United States have joined in pooling their wool under one head. Formerly several large cooperatives competed against each other on the terminal market when they wanted to sell their wool. Under the present plan, they pool their wool and it is sold under one head. This will eliminate a lot of competition, and better the price of wool. Don't forget the date of shipment, July 5 at Amboy.

Contract to be Signed.
Each wool grower wishing to ship wool through the wool pool, must sign a marketing agreement with the Central Wool Marketing Corporation. This agreement agrees to ship all their wool each year through the wool marketing corporation of Boston. If they are dissatisfied with the pool any year, they are allowed to withdraw during a certain period of the next year. This is a standard agreement of the Farm Board. Farmers will be asked to sign the agreement when they come in to ship their wool.
